MAY ASK COURT TO STOP MARATHON DANCE

CHESTER MAYOR STANDS PAT AS CITIZENS CALL MASS MEETING

Council Declines to Call Off Endurance Contest.

READY TO GO

Church Representatives Prepare to Ask Injunction.

A court injunction to halt the proposed marathon dancing contest, scheduled to open in the municipal auditorium, at Chester, at 8 o'clock tonight, may be sought in the Hancock county courts at New Cumberland, it was announced today following a mass meeting in the First Methodist Episcopal church in the West Virginia city yesterday afternoon.

Objections Explained
Feeling over the proposed dance was running high today as an aftereffect of last night, when the legislators, by a vote of three to two, declined to interfere with the proposed endurance contest.

Session of a committee composed of church members named at yesterday afternoon's mass meeting, was held in city hall in Chester at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon to discuss plans for a court fight. While members of the committee declined to commit themselves, and R. E. Balch, Pittsburgh, in proceedings would be filed as soon as the contest started.

"We are objecting to this affair from a moral point of view," said M. E. Epley, member of the citizens' committee. "We do not believe it to be a good thing for our town and will use every means to stop it."

Mayor Earl Milby, who rented the hall for the dance last Thursday night after conferred with "one or two members of city council" said that the city would not interfere with the promoters' plans.

Verbal Agreement Made.
While council could take no legal action yesterday, it was indicated at a conference last night that the city would not interfere inasmuch as a verbal agreement had been made with

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

THIS country is in reality big business, and the day of billions is here. Bank clearings for this past week amount to eleven thousand, seven hundred and forty millions of dollars, nearly two billions more than the amount America sent to Europe during the war.

OUR Wall Street "orgy," as they call it, worries Britons. They fear that "speculation mania" will bother them. It won't bother them if they don't gamble. If they do, they will be bothered seriously, anyhow.

OTHER countries must learn that all countries cannot go at the same rate of speed, financially or otherwise. The little boy who "hitches on" to a swiftly moving automobile invites disaster.

INTERESTING news items come close together in yesterday's newspapers. Seven lions in a cage nearly killed their trainer, through jealousy of a new lion added to the lion act.

UNWRITTEN law, barring women in American races, will be broken at Belmont Park today. Three, described as "ladies prominent in society here and abroad," will ride astride.

ALL that is left for them, left of the transcontinental foot-races, reached New York from Los Angeles yesterday. The survivors showed courage and strength. Nevertheless, torturing men in money making schemes should be stopped.

LONG distance running was important, when an ancient Greek ran the 26 miles from Marathon to Athens, announced a great victory and dropped dead.

COL. THOMPSON ENTERS RACE FOR SENATOR

Cleveland Man Will Seek Republican Nomination.

PUBLIC SERVANT
Announces Candidacy for Late Frank Willis' Place.

CLEVELAND, May 28 — Colonel Carmel A. Thompson, of Cleveland, today formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

Numerous requests from Republicans in every county in the State resulted in his final decision, Colonel Thompson declared. His announcement follows:

"I have concluded to seek the Republican nomination for United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator Frank B. Willis. My decision to become a candidate was made after I had received many requests from Republicans from every county in the State, who believe that my experience not only in political affairs, but in my profession and in business, qualifies me for this position.

"From time to time I shall state my position upon various political questions that are of interest to the people of Ohio.

Began Work in Coal Mines
"I nominated in August and elected in November, I shall devote all my efforts, energy and experience to maintain the high standards established by Ohio's representatives in the upper house of congress.

Colonel Thompson has had a wide and varied career. Starting work at the age of ten in coal mines near Ironton, he entered public service years later and has held many positions of trust. He was secretary to President William Howard Taft, assistant secretary of the interior; treasurer of the United States; secretary of state for Ohio for two terms and personal representative of President Calvin Coolidge.

Thompson is 53 years of age.

KILL TAXI MAN IN INN HOLDUP

Two Others Shot as Police Battle Bandits.

NEW YORK, May 28—Used as a shield by six bandits who raided the Actors' Inn, an all-night cafe, at No. 31 East 7th street, early today, one taxi driver was shot down and killed and two others seriously wounded in the confused fight which followed the bandits' safe escape.

The six gunmen looted the 60 patrons of the Cafe, the managers and the help of money and jewelry worth between $15,000 and $20,000.

Louis Miskin, 55, No. 1140 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, one of the taxi men, shot through the breast by patrolman Victor Hertz, of the East Fifth street station as he attempted to escape from the cafe and from the wrath of the patrons and waiters, who mistook the drivers for members of the bandit gang. He died at Bellevue hospital an hour later.

GRILL SUSPECT AT YOUNGSTOWN IN DEATH OF KIDNAPED GIRL

Body of Beatrice Rosenbaum Found Near Salem.

MYSTERY CASE

"Exposure" Killed Tot; Columbiana Officials Aid Quiz.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 28.—Concentrating their efforts upon determining how ten-year-old Beatrice Rosenbaum was spirited away from her home here May 14, and taken to a spot near Salem, where her body was found by two farmer boys Sunday, police authorities today were grilling a suspect held on a statutory charge. City and county officers held varied opinions as to how the girl reached the ravine, two and one-half miles southeast of Salem, where the body was located.

Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvater of Lisbon, Columbiana county, was inclined to believe that the girl had been held a prisoner some time until her captor, fearing discovery, killed her and fled. The official verdict of Coroner M. E. Hayes of Mahoning county, however, read "Death by exposure." The girl had been dead about 48 hours when the body was found, according to Hayes' decision. The coroner said there were no evidences of the child having been attacked. She had been without food for several days, it was indicated.

Relatives Identify Girl.
The girl was first identified by Police Chief J. J. McNicholas of Youngstown, and later by her mother, sister and brother. The mother, Mrs. Max Rosenbaum, fainted after making the identification.

The latest man arrested in connection with the case was a 64-year-old Cleveland who gave himself up voluntarily Saturday when he learned he was wanted. Subsequent investigation showed this man left Struthers, Ohio, near here, April 26 and sold a Ford roadster April 27. Ever since the search for the girl began, May 15, a Ford roadster had been the center of the police hunt.

In all, ten men have been arrested, all of whom owned roadsters answering the description of the one said to have been used in the girl's abduction.

Farmer Boys Find Body.
The body was found by Melvin and Robert Lippitt, 13 and 15 respectively, sons of J. P. Lippitt, a farmer, as they were going after cows.

The older Lippitt told police he saw a car stop near the wooded ravine Friday night. The automobile he said contained two persons but he did not know whether one was a child.

The child's body was brought here from Salem last evening. Beatrice had been without food for days and her feet were swollen and cracked as if they had been exposed to water, Hayes declared.

There was no evidence of the girl being attacked, Hayes added. He said there were no bruises or scars on the child's body to indicate foul play. The same conclusions were reached by Coroner J. M. Vanoson of Columbiana county, in his preliminary examination of the girl's body at Salem a few hours before it was taken to Youngstown.

Clothing Torn and Scattered.
The dead girl's clothing was torn and scattered, some of it several feet from where the body was found, it was said.

Complete Plans for Union Memorial Day Exercises by Veterans of Three Wars

Tribute to the veterans of three wars will be paid at Union Memorial Day exercises, which will be held here Wednesday afternoon. The observance will consist of a parade through the downtown district, followed by a program at Riverview cemetery.

Plans for the affair, which promises to be one of the most successful ever held in East Liverpool, were completed at a meeting of the general committee in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building Saturday night.

Members of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic; Private Eddy Post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars; East Liverpool Post No. 4, American Legion; General Garfield camp, No. 3, Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary orders and the musicians' local will participate in the observance. This will mark the first time since the World war that union exercises have been conducted here.

LOST IN SILENCE OF THE FROZEN NORTH

Above is a map of the route taken by Gen. Umberto Nobile on his latest trip to the North Pole and from which he had not returned after being gone from Spitzbergen for almost six days. Below is a picture of Nobile and of the Italia, the dirigible constructed especially for the flight. It is feared, since he reported storms in his last radio communication, that the ship has been wrecked.

Polar Balloon Fate In North is Mystery

Balked by Ice Floes, Supply Ship, Searching for Gen. Umberto Nobile and His Companions, Turns Back.

The fate of the missing polar exploration balloon Italia remained a mystery today. Somewhere in the frozen North the balloon has either landed or is drifting through the air.

Hope for the safety of Gen. Umberto Nobile, leader of the exploration and his companions, was based chiefly upon a radiogram which was picked up by San Francisco wireless stations saying that the Italia had met with disaster. This message was believed to have been relayed by a Russian wireless station on the Siberian coast. It did not give the position of the balloon.

Hope Blimp Landed

Norway is sending a fleet of ships to comb the Arctic sea.

Heavy winds were reported off the northern coast of Spitzbergen by the steamship Citta di Milano the mobile base of the Italian expedition. It reported that the wind was piling up huge masses of ice.

Persons familiar with the Arctic held out hope that the Italia had been able to land and that an improvised wireless outfit might be rigged up to give its position to searchers.

Storms Off Amsterdam Island

KING'S BAY Spitzbergen, May 28.—Balked by ice floes through which she could not pass, the supply ship Citta di Milano, which had set out to search for the missing exploration balloon Italia, has turned back, according to a radiogram received here this afternoon. The ship, which left King's Bay yesterday morning, ran into heavy ice and stormy weather off Amsterdam Island, on the northern coasts of Spitzbergen. The commander reported that the high wind was piling up a great wall of ice.

ITALIA CARRIED 18 MEN AND DOG

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, May 28.—In addition to 18 men, the Italia carried a dog mascot. This was Gen. Umberto Nobile's pet Terrier, Titania. The explorer was deeply attached to the little animal and said he believed its presence would bring good luck to the expedition.

OHIO MOTORISTS HONOR E. M. DIEHL

E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club, was elected vice-president of the Ohio State Automobile association at the 27th annual convention, which closed at Toledo Saturday night.

R. B. Crawford, Massillon, whose candidacy was endorsed by the board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club, was elected president. C. C. Jones, Columbus, was named secretary and W. S. Park, Columbus, treasurer.

Parade Moves at 1:30

The parade will form in East Fourth street between Broadway and Market street at 1:15 o'clock, moving at 1:30 o'clock. The procession will march north in Broadway to Sixth street, south in Monroe street to Fifth street, east in Fifth street to Market street and through the Diamond to St. Clair avenue, disbanding at the Horn switch where the marchers will board automobiles and street cars to Riverview cemetery.

The Sons of Veterans have arranged automobile transportation for the G. A. R. and the Salvation Army band. Arrangements have been made for several special street cars on the Grandview line.

Members of the joint Memorial Day committee today called upon merchants and residents of the downtown district to display the flag in the sidewalk sockets and to decorate

F. W. FERGUSON IS TRAPPED IN CAR COLLISION AT COLUMBIANA

New Waterford Store Owner Pinned to Auto Wheel.

MACHINE FIRED

E. Palestine Mail Carrier Figures in Crash.

Frank W. Ferguson, 58, proprietor of a general store at New Waterford, died in the Central clinic, Salem, yesterday afternoon from burns sustained at 10 o'clock Saturday night when his automobile took fire following a collision on the Columbiana-New Waterford road about one mile north of Columbiana.

Burned Over Entire Body
Ferguson, pinned to the wheel of his overturned automobile, was rescued after a hole had been cut in the top of his car, 10 minutes after the crash occurred. He was attended by Dr. Trader, at Columbiana, and then removed to the Clinic. He was burned over his entire body.

Ferguson, who had taken Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beck, residing about a mile out of New Waterford, to their home Saturday night, was returning to his store when his machine was struck from the rear by another car driven by Edward C. Garside, East Palestine mail carrier and automobile dealer, traveling toward New Waterford, relatives said.

Mrs. Beck, who was an eyewitness to the crash from her back door, said that Ferguson stopped his car at the end of the driveway leading into their home to allow another car to pass then drove onto the main highway.

The gas tank on Ferguson's car burst after the crash and the fuel was ignited. Ferguson's machine was hurled into a ditch, while Garside's car also overturned. Garside escaped from his car.

Funeral Services Wednesday.
Beck, Garside and others assisted in the rescue of Ferguson, being forced to fight the flames with buckets of water as they cut their way through the top of the closed car.

Ferguson resided in Lockwood, Trumbull county, before moving to New Waterford. He was a member of the blue lodge, chapter, council and commandery of Masons at Warren, Al Kwan shrine at Columbiana. He was also a member of the Odd Fellows' lodge.

He is survived by one son, William E. Ferguson, Chester, W. Va., and three daughters, Mrs. S. E. McCune, New Waterford; Mary, Youngstown school teacher, and Violet, at home.

Funeral services will be conducted in the home of his daughter, Mrs. McCune, New Waterford, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be made in New Waterford cemetery.

"LEARN TO SWIM" CAMPAIGN OPENS

Ninety boys were enrolled in the five classes which met at the Y. M. C. A. this morning in the opening of "Learn to Swim" at the Y. As many more youths are expected to enroll in classes which will be organized this afternoon.

POSTAL CLERK KILLS HIMSELF

Body Found in Auto South of Hookstown.

Body of Ray Ramsey, 28, of Carnot, Pa., clerk in the Coraopolis postoffice, who shot himself Friday afternoon, was found Saturday afternoon in his automobile near the roadside about nine miles south of Hookstown, Pa.

The body was removed to St. Steuart funeral parlors in Hookstown where an inquest was conducted by Coroner Harry McCarter of Beaver county. He returned a verdict that death had been caused by "gun shot wounds self inflicted."

Ramsey leaves his widow and three children, Lester, Ernest and Grace; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ramsey; two brothers, Lee and Irwin Ramsey, and one sister, Ella, all of Wireton, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the home at Carnot, with services also at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Mount Olivet church. Burial will be made in Mount Olivet cemetery.

DAWES DEFEATS CONGRESS PLAN TO ADJOURN

Vice President Votes Deciding "No" in Senate Balloting.

DRAMATIC MOVE

Administration Leaders are Stunned by Action.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Under dramatic circumstances, Vice President Dawes today defeated the administration's resolution to adjourn congress at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Although the house adopted the adjournment resolution by a big majority, the senate voted 40 to 40 on the question of going home tomorrow. This gave the vice president an opportunity to vote.

"The vote is 40 ayes and 40 noes," said Dawes. "The result being a tie, the chair casts his vote and the chair votes no."

His vote thus defeated the resolution. There was a wild outburst of applause in the galleries while administration leaders sat stunned in their seats. The surprise was all the greater because the senate previously had rejected two amendments to keep congress in session, first, until June 5, and then, until June 2.

The action of the senate with Dawes' aid, left administration leaders in a quandary. The senate refused to remain in session until next Tuesday by a vote of 29 to 41, defeating an amendment to that effect, proposed by Senator Johnson (R) of California.

Then the senate declined to remain here until next Saturday, by a vote of 38 to 42. Finally, it refused to adjourn tomorrow.

EAGLES' CHIEF HERE TOMORROW

John Able Marion, president of the Ohio Eagles, will be a guest of East Liverpool aerie, No. 457, F. O. E., at a special meeting at which a class of candidates will be initiated in the Broadway Temple tomorrow evening.

This will be the "Mother's Day" class. A chop suey supper will be served by Charles Hughes, Joseph Bastean, Allen Dawson, Herbert Rhue and Daniel Hickman.

Goff-Hoover Fight Headlines Primaries

Battle for Republican Nomination for United States Senator in Which Hatfield, Gore and Rosenbloom are Principals, Also Holds Interest.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 28.—Interest in the West Virginia Republican primary election tomorrow, centers largely on the fight for the presidential preference and the nomination for United States Senator.

Guy D. Goff, junior senator from West Virginia, as a "native son and a Republican whose republicanism is not to be questioned," has been waging an intensely aggressive fight for the popular vote against Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and will close his campaign at Morgantown tonight.

Two weeks ago, Hoover would have swept the state. Since Senator Goff's entry, however, a decided change has been evident and observers today were of the opinion that Goff will go over with a good margin. Reasons for the reaction to the Hoover candidacy are many, but Republican leaders cite chiefly the invasion of the state by "foreign speakers, writers and reporters," who are called "carpetbaggers" in many quarters, as the cause of the upset in a state already considered in the Hoover column.

Goff is Favored

Senator Goff's entry, however, a decided change has been evident and observers today were of the opinion that Goff will go over with a good margin. the state, has caused red-hot resentment on the part of West Virginians generally.

There are two forces at work which may result in the Hoover plans going astray. First, there is a natural sentiment for Goff as a favorite son and as an exponent of Republicanism; and second, there is a distinct anti-Hoover movement growing out of resentment as the "insult" Goff described and the effort of the Hoover West Virginia managers, some of whom were instrumental in getting Goff to file, to "promote" West Virginia by high pressure salesmanship.

Conley-Waugh Contest

In the fight for the senatorial nomination on the Republican side, Henry D. Hatfield, former governor, is thought to be leading the field over his opponents, however, M. Gore, present governor, and Benjamin G. L. Rosenbloom, who is running on a wet and wide-open ticket. The issues are not many. Hatfield and Gore are running on their records as chief executive; Rosenbloom has a light wine and beer platform.

The three aspirants have been campaigning intensely for weeks, making speeches and placing their respective candidates before the people.

ple. Hatfield, who was responsible for the workmen's compensation law, the public health law, public service law, mining law and other basic legislation, is making his plea for support on his known record of service. Governor Gore is stressing roads almost entirely.

In the Republican camp, the fight for gubernatorial honors has settled down into a contest between William G. Conley, former attorney general, and Judge H. Roy Waugh, with the street betting favoring Conley three and four to one. Conley has confined his campaign to a statement of where he stands on important questions, refusing to be drawn into personal controversy.

His opponent has preached that "there is something wrong in West Virginia" and has charged that the Republican supreme court of appeals and Republican board of public works is "in the pocket of the railroads and of special interest." Against this charge, Conley has defended his party.

Predict Smith Victory.

In the Democratic contest for president, there is every reason to believe that the choice of West Virginia will be Alfred E. Smith, of New York over Senator James Reed of Missouri. Smith has the backing of Charles Osenton, national committeeman, who has placed a complete slate in the field.

Senator M. M. Neely, of Fairmont, has no opposition for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Four entrants are still fighting for the Democratic nomination for governor, with the outlook so far in grave doubt. Dr. Gory Hogg, of Fayette county, A. J. Wilkinson, of Cabell, J. Alfred Taylor, of Fayette county and Judge R. D. Bailey, of Wyoming county, are the principal contestants.

Hogg is said to have the support of what is left of the old line Democratic organization which seems to have been pretty well shot to pieces by the Smith and anti-Smith forces in their struggle for supremacy. Wilkinson carried 27 counties against Judge Jacob Fisher and the organization in 1924, but Judge R. D. Bailey, who comes from the same section of the state, may cut into his strength this year. Taylor, a former congressman, has considerable popularity with the masses and has made an effective campaign.

Large number of Chester high school athletes are entered in the annual county field meet which will be held Wednesday and Weirton. The squad will be accompanied by a delegation of rooters.

HEALTH SEAL SALES SLASHED

Hancock County Reports $640.92 in December Drive.

Mrs. J. A. Todd, of New Cumberland, chairman of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league, announced today that the sales of health seals during the December campaign totaled $640.92 as against $1,181.77 recorded in 1926.

The decrease, the report says, is attributed to the failure of the New Cumberland bank. From December, 1926, to November 30, 1927, the league disbursed $893.05. This money was spent for the maintenance of patients at the Hopewell sanatorium for tuberculosis patients; for placing scales and thermometers in schools; furnishing glasses and paying hospital bills for the children of indigent parents; providing rural schools with "first aid kits" and health magazines and milk for undernourished children.

In the last campaign the rural schools of Grant district sold $76.79 worth of seals. For seven consecutive years the Brooklyn school has sold more seals than any other school in the county, selling this year $25.25. The school won special recognition from the state office at Charleston and was presented with a framed $25 health bond. This school has an organized health club consisting of children of the fourth grade.

Every school in the district took part in the sale. Grandview sold, $14.73, Franklin, $5, Shepherd's Valley $6, Allison, $4, Elwood, $4.70, Washington, $6, and Congo $10. Mrs. J. M. Wells, who is district chairman, returned $145.55 from Newell.

Schools Closed Election Day. Grant district public schools will be closed tomorrow, election day, and Wednesday, Memorial day. Both are legal holidays in West Virginia.

Recognizing Merit

Sometimes people who are not in possession of the facts appear to be skeptical regarding the good accomplished by service clubs and kindred organizations, and one answer to the query is the annual custom of the Rotarians in paying tribute to the scholastic attainments of two honor students of the East Liverpool high school.

Gale Williams, 18, of Elkton, a tuition pupil, and Robert Hicks, also 18, a classmate, will be guests of honor at the club's noon luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow. Young Williams, who had an average of 94.94 per cent for the four-year course, is the first honor student of the 1928 class, while young Hicks won the "greatest effort" award by vote of the school faculty.

Recognizing the records made by these students, who can testify that their laurels were not achieved without after-school study as well as application during regular sessions, and as a means of encouraging other students to emulate the two to be honored, the Rotarians will present gold medals to Williams and Hicks.

This is but one of the many worth-while things that are done by the Rotary club which, besides bearing its share of the task in civic welfare work, has devoted much of its attention to the humanitarian job of rehabilitating crippled children.

There is a place in the community for all such organizations.

Honors For Congress School

Pauline Gray, of Congress school, in Wayne county, finished second in a national spelling contest at Washington, and won $500.

Two years ago Dean Lucas, of Congress school, went to Washington in the national spelling bee, and made a very creditable showing. A year ago young Lucas again went to Washington in the national bee, and won it.

In the national oratorical contest in Ohio this year, Junior Palmer, another Congress school student, won the all-Wayne county finals, but was eliminated in the Canton district competition.

With such talent in Congress school, one wonders naturally if the pupils there are better students than the pupils in other schools. Or perhaps it is the teaching corps. Again, there may be something in the Wayne county atmosphere which is conducive to good spelling and good oratory.

At any rate, whatever the cause, Congress school is one of the outstanding rural schools of the state, judging by the spelling and oratorical ability of its pupils in the last two or three years. To win one national championship and place second twice in three years is no mean record in itself, but when this is multiplied by young Palmer's oratorical achievement, then one gives pause to consider the whys and wherefores of such a record.

In Congress school, one is informed, the pupils are imbued with a loyalty second to none. In fact, it is recognized in this section of the state that school loyalty at Congress is on a par with the loyalty university students have for their alma mater—a loyalty which strives to win at all times.

The student body in Congress is not large. In athletics Congress holds its own with other schools of its class. But in oral scholastics Congress seems to rank head and shoulders above its contemporaries, judging by the accomplishments of its spellers and orators.

Kamchatka Air Tour

A crew of Russians is reported planning an airplane flight this summer from the Kamchatka peninsula, in eastern Siberia, to Leningrad to explore some of the hitherto unvisited wastes of northern Siberia.

Kamchatka, where the expedition is said to propose taking off, is one of the principal fur districts of the Russian far east. Lying in approximately the same latitude as Labrador and the British Isles, the Kamchatka peninsula neither is so bleak and barren as the one, nor so verdant as the other.

This peninsula is a great projection of land lying between the Sea of Okhotsk and the Bering Sea, opposite southern Alaska. As a sort of backbone, a range of volcanic mountains divides the peninsula, several active cones still adding to the natural wonders of the region. It is from the forested valleys of this upland district that come many of the famous Siberian furs.

A majority of the population of the southern part of Kamchatka is made up of semi-civilized natives who live in log towns along the rivers and gain a livelihood by salmon fishing and fur hunting. Mixed with these are a few immigrant Russian peasants who cultivate farms of rye, potatoes and turnips. Farther to the north are wild nomadic tribes which exist by raising herds of reindeer.

Among these people the wedding ceremony takes the form of a foot race between bride and bridegroom in which the latter is hindered as much as possible by blows from willow switches administered by women of the tribe. This procedure gives the bride a chance to escape her bargain if she so desires, since there is no chance of the man catching her unless she is willing for him to do so.

This is a last chance at freedom, for once the ceremony is over the tribal husband is said to be a stern lord and master.

The Grateful Prisoner

Yes, jail prisoners are mostly a tough and treacherous lot, especially those in for criminal violence. But consider this case.

Albert Bechune, held in the county jail at Zebulon, Ga., on a charge of murder, committed suicide the other day for a remarkable reason. A pistol was smuggled to him so that he could kill the jailer and make his escape. He planned his strike for freedom, then changed his mind. He explained it in a note he left for the sheriff. He couldn't kill the jailer, he said, because the jailer had been kind to him; so he killed himself instead.

Jean Valjean, most famous of French fiction prisoners, might have done that.

A Pittsburgh man says he has a new propeller with which an ocean liner can make 200 miles an hour. It was also a Pittsburgh man who developed the famous engine that took unlimited power out of the air's smatter with the sanitarians there?

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 28.—Even the army feels the twentieth century urge toward individualism. Time was when the soldier's quarters from Maine to Texas were cut essentially on one pattern, just like army coats and breeches, and the expression, "like a barracks," aptly summed up all that was monotonous and dreary in architecture and interior decorating.

The army, planning its ten-year housing program which is to involve the expenditure of approximately $145,000,000 is up to its neck in drawings and blue prints, no two sets of which seem exactly alike, and it is discussing with a most knowing air Southern and Northern Colonial "motifs," modified and full Spanish types, and divers other fine points of building design.

Army quarters of the immediate future are not going to be extravagant affairs but they are going to be up-to-date, and they are going to be built with some regard for architectural trends in the various sections of the country where they are to be located.

For instance, at Camp Devens, Massachusetts, the new buildings will be the Colonial style, reminiscent of the older buildings at Harvard. At Camp Humphreys, Virginia, the Southern colonial type will prevail, with two-story porches, in the Georgian fashion, supported by graceful columns.

The old Spanish missions strike the prevailing note in southern California. Consequently, at March field, the new buildings will follow this motif. Singularly beautiful is the design for the new air corps barracks. The building will be two-storied, of stucco and tile, with nicely placed arcades and projecting wings at either end. Officers' quarters will be similarly patterned in the popular bungalow size.

Fort Sam Houston is to have a new barracks of simplified Span design, made of stucco and topped with colorful tiles, and at Fort Wadsworth, New York, the Infantry Battalion Barracks will be stern and embattled because other buildings in the vicinity are of this type.

The army, of course, has not gone so far as to permit the various officers to design their individual homes, but, Major General B. F. Cheatham, the quartermaster general, in charge of carrying out the housing program, has consulted their wives. Realizing that the women are the home-makers, he appealed to the wives of commissioned and non-commissioned officers for suggestions. Their response was immediate and definite and many of their ideas were incorporated in the interior plans for the buildings.

Having heard a great deal of to-do and grumbling about cooking and dishwashing drudgery, the general had conceived a plan whereby all this could be abated. He suggested apartments, with central messes, which would relieve them of all labor and responsibility in connection with meals.

Without exception all of the letters received vetoed the general's bright idea. He learned that women, at least women of the army, still believe in home cooking. They wanted their own homes and their own kitchens and they tabooed the central mess as being too much like a boarding-house.

So the general crossed apartments off his list; that is, apartments for married officers. Apartments for bachelors will be in order at different posts and will accommodate, on the average, about eight men. Each will have his own living room, bedroom, and bath, and there will be a general mess room and a reception room.

A company officer's home, under the law, must cost not more than $12,500. It has the following rooms: living room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a maid's room and bath, and a cellar. Homes of officers above the rank of captain are limited in cost to $14,000 and have the same layout with the exception that there is an additional bedroom.

For the fiscal year 1927 a total of $13,120,000 was made available for carrying out the program. All work provided in the 1927 appropriation bill has been placed under contract. Plans and specifications have been sent out for proposals for work included in the first deficiency bill for 1928, just passed by congress, and the 1929 bill, now before congress, provides for additional needs. In these three years there will have been provided a total of about 70 barracks, housing 18,000 men; quarters for 238 commissioned officers' families; 181 non-commissioned officers' families, and an increase in hospitalization of more than 800 beds, constituting a real start toward the ultimate replacement of temporary accommodations in use since the war.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

This newspaper put at your disposal a corps of trained researchers in Washington who will answer questions for you. They have access to the government departments, the libraries, museums, galleries, and public buildings, and to the numerous associations which maintain headquarters in the nation's Capital. If they can be of assistance to you, write your question plainly, and send with a two-cent stamp to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Is there any rule in baseball forbidding a player to wear his sweater at bat? R. N.

A. Some umpires do not recognize the sweater as part of the uniform. In the major leagues a player is expected to go to bat without a sweater, but if it is a very cold day, the chances are that the captains will agree that the players may wear sweaters.

Q. How is the fact that a runner gets his "second wind" accounted for? S. R.

A. The Public Health Service says that by "second wind" is meant an adjustment of the heart rate to the intake and outgo of air in the lungs.

Q. Would the Bremen have floated if it had landed on the water? S. J.

A. Whether or not an airplane which is forced to land in the water will sink immediately depends upon the condition of the gasoline tanks. If the tanks are empty or almost empty, the plane will float for a time. If the tanks are full, the plane will probably sink almost immediately. The Bremen was not equipped with pontoons or with any device which would enable it to land on the water.

Q. Do Japanese people use more American goods than the Chinese do? W. W.

A. Last year Japan used $5.00 worth per capita while China used 27 cents worth.

East Liverpool Review Offers to Its Readers A Booklet on Zion Park

The wildest spot in America, discovered centuries ago by Coronado, visited by a few lost Mormon pioneers, but otherwise shunned and feared, the canyon land of southwest Utah has been reached by road and rail and made a national park.

A fine picture booklet of this wonderland has been prepared for our Washington Information Bureau.

It is worth while, whether you ever go to Zion National Park or not.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Diary of a modern Popsy: Up and sat all morning at a typewriter achieving six scant lines which I flung away, and off for a walk with my dog. In the park was a tattered fellow fallen in a fit, and a lady in a limousine stopped and took him to a hospital.

And along a path hair stiffened on the dog's back and he growled menacingly albeit nobody was about and I discovered it was the animal smell from the zoo near by. Home to my labours again, but accomplished nothing. And depressed with the notion I may be cuckoo, my wife, poor wretch, being sure of it.

In the evening to a dinner, and talked to John Golden, whom I had never met. And also there were Charles Hanson, Towne, David E. Towne, E. B. Parker and others, and later with my wife and John and Margaret Kennedy to see "Porgy," a brave play and as realistic as any I ever saw. So to bed.

As result of an automobile accident, an actor found himself in need of blood transfusion at a hospital. A Times Square rounder wired him: "As result of Broadway gin, my blood is mostly formaldehyde, but if you think it will do any good I can spare you a quart."

Those who now and then rent a Western Union messenger suit for masquerades or amateur theatricals must gravely ponder "not to dishonour it."

One of those grumpy Majors with a walrus mustache, bushy eyebrows and a white vest clumped out of his club on Fifth Avenue.

"Get a taxi!" he said.

"Will this pink one do?" inquired the starter, pointing to one at the curb.

"H'yes," he snorted. "I don't care if the driver uses perfume."

It would seem ping-pong has not gone the way of crokinole and other games of its period. There is a steady sale of ping-pong outfits, and mostly in aristocratic areas. There are still ping-pong tournaments and the most devoted followers are men. Ping-pong killed the game of tiddle-de-winks as dead as a door nail, and that's something.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Not long ago the Librarian of congress invited me to a luncheon. He had an interesting group about the table. Among the guests was Prof. W. E. Soothill, Professor of Chinese at Oxford University, England.

Prof. Soothill set us all laughing by reciting a little poem. It was a recital intended to warn Dr. Putnam's guests against overindulgence.

Here are the words:

East slowly; only men in rags,
Or gluttons deep in sin.

Mistake themselves for carpet bags
And tumble victuals in.

Funny, isn't it? It gave us a good laugh and in all probability increased our appetites in consequence.

The poem was written by Sir Walter Raleigh. Of course this is not the Sir Walter Raleigh, explorer, statesman, historian and poet, of Elizabeth's time. It is Sir Walter Raleigh, now Professor of English at Oxford.

I trust you are not one of those who "mistake themselves for carpet bags and tumble victuals in." But if you are not, you are a rare person.

I truly believe the average individual eats too much. Many times I have said that you live on one-third of what you eat and the doctors live on the other two-thirds.

This statement is almost—if not quite true, because most of us overeat and habitually overeat. I have no patience with folks who starve themselves for the sake of being slender. That is an evil worse if anything than sinful overeating. But everybody should be sensibly temperate in habits of eating.

It is surprising how much the intake of food can be reduced without the slightest decline in weight. This shows that the body does not use, but Through oval windows on a Broadway corner crowds watch intricate machines rolling out cigarettes—many thousands hourly. Mingling in the crowds constantly are two plainclothes men who watch for pickpockets. Wherever crowds are attracted in passing, the purse-lifters find a haven.

The lobbies of those dim-lit hotels in the Forties that change names with such frequency offer a colorful slice of Tenderloin life. The clerks are hard-boiled, furtive gentlemen who can only express themselves intelligently in underworld argot. In passable English, they seem inarticulate.

Elevators are manned by work-worn and sullen colored boys who will only brighten up at a tip. Among lobby loungers every stranger is eyed with faint suspicion. Most of the patrons are racketeers living in fear of the rap.

There are the high-waisted men with drooping cigarettes and much fly talk who live off women. The lady shop-lifters are said to be their best providers. And there are the peroxide, wan-checked girl who also give street earnings to wastrels.

Late at night, the shady hotel patrons fraternize. Men in shirt sleeves and kimonoed women with shaggy white dogs group about the entrance. Frowzy heads hang from upstairs windows and there is the grinding wheeze of a phonograph.

An hour after midnight the bell-hops are racing to lunch counters and returning with sandwiches, The dice, dice sharpeners and other creature of the night who prey on humanity gather shortly before dawn to count the spoils. But from daylight until 4 o'clock in the afternoon all life and motion in the shady hotels seem to suspend.

There is a certain dapper jewelry salesman who becomes ubiquitous when Douglas Fairbanks comes to town. Wherever Fairbanks goes he finds him. Once he returned to his hotel apartment and there sat the salesman. "How do you suppose he got in here?" a friend asked the actor. "I don't know," he replied. "He must come out of the woodwork."

Don't Make a Toy Out of Baby - Babies Have Nerves - BY RUTH BRITTAIN

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the overstimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates. It is purely vegetable — the recipe is on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over a million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.

A tough, durable finish for floors

Kitchen, bathroom, and hallway floors need an enamel finish that is extra tough and wear-resisting.

For these floors we recommend LOWE BROTHERS FLOOR ENAMEL. It is a finish that is easy to clean and one that will last. It has unusual spreading capacity and is very economical. It dries hard and smooth overnight. Also makes an excellent finish for kitchen walls and woodwork. Many colors from which to choose.

SAVE WITH ICE IS TIP FROM GOLDEN STAR

As falling snow purifies the atmosphere—so melting ice purifies the air in your refrigerator.

And if it's ice from the tanks of the Golden Star Dairy, you're getting refrigeration at its best.

Save with ice! Save your food during hot, torrid months of summer that are to come—protect the health of yourself and your family by keeping the perishable contents of your ice-box fresh, clean and wholesome.

All you have to do is keep your ice box filled with ice, a product of the Golden Star Dairy.

Did you ever stop outdoors early some morning—just after and snow storm? Surely you have. Remember the exhilarating sense of buoyancy and freshness that come with every breath of the cool, crisp air?

It is a scientific fact that falling snow washes from the air much of the dust and soot, the floating dirt particles and other impurities, leaving the air purer and cleaner.

In the same way, melting ice washes the air in a refrigerator—sweetens and purifies it. The circulating air picks up the odors and impurities and takes them away to the ice chamber where they are deposited on the melting ice and carried off down the drain. The circulating air also carries off the excess moisture arising from the foods. It takes melting ice to do this.

Ice always works automatically. When the air is warmer, the ice melts faster and thus keeps the temperature just right; when the air is cooler, the ice melts more slowly but maintains the same coldness. The air is always kept moving. The cold surface of the ice is always exposed to the circulating air. All that is necessary is to keep the ice chamber well filled.

Save with ice—Save with Golden Star ice!

CYMA WATCHES AT PRESCOTT'S

How often have you become "bored to death" with these individuals — you know them—who are afflicted with that dread malady known as the "gimmes".

"Gimme a cigarette, gimme a match, gimme a ride, gimme this and 'gimme that—gimme the time, mister, my watch is stopped—" and so on, ad infinitum.

There is a good cure for that last crack about the watch. The next time this bird comes begging the time, be a missionary, take a few minutes of your time and acquaint him with Cyma watches.

Or better still, send him up to Prescott, the jeweler, in St. Clair avenue where he can look over a complete line of this famous time piece.

The Cyma watch has earned the praise of watch historians, watch designers, watch constructors, watch merchandisers and servicers, because they have seen the Cyma perform honestly and faithfully for years—from the nineteenth century on.

R. E. Prescott has a complete line of Cyma watches, as well as Sure Fit metal straps for men and for women. Prescott's also is headquarters for Howard, Hamilton, Illinois and Elgin strap and pocket watches.

NEW PARTS MAY 'MAKE' YOUR CAR

Are you buying a new car or are you going to keep the old one another season?

While there was never a more wonderful selection of machines on the market than there is now, it is quite possible that you would like to get another year's service out of the one you have now but are a little dubious as to how it will stand up.

If there are a few parts on your auto that are "weakening," it is quite possible to replace them here at surprisingly low cost. Try the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking Co. They generally have what you need in this line.

BRAKE LINING FROM ASBESTOS MEANS SAFETY

THE motorist who put Johns-Manville brake lining—made by Johns-Manville, the master of asbestos, on his car, is buying safety that is certain.

Safety—in its fullest meaning—the protection of life itself—depends on the brake lining of your motor car. This is true every time you drive.

Therefore, if you know that your brakes need re-lining or have even the faintest suspicion that you are flirting with broken fenders, and repair bills or, even worse, broken bones and hospital bills, makes this memorandum today:

"May 28—Have O. V. Doak inspect my brakes today."

Now, it's almost certain that your brakes need adjustment, unless your car happens to be just out of the factory, so you'll lose nothing by letting Doak look at them. And if your brakes need re-lining, Doak will use guaranteed Johns-Manville lining. It will protect you for thousands of miles.

Johns-Manville, pioneer developer of asbestos, has made safe the control of heat, of fire, of vast power through asbestos. For your car the tough fibres of this rock are woven into brake lining.

If you have any interest in your family, or in yourself, you cannot afford to buy brake lining by hit or miss methods.

It is just as easy to have sturdy, dependable Johns-Manville brake lining as it is to have an inferior brand. John-Manville is the world master of asbestos, the most logical producer of an asbestos brake lining.

When your brakes need re-lining—which may be right now—go over to Doak's Johns-Manville service station and tell him you want your brakes re-lined with Johns-Manville lining. That's all the "shopping around" you'll have to do.

If you leave the matter to chance or to someone else's opinion, you may save a few cents—not even that is sure—but you will be taking a big risk that you might just as well avoid.

The way to be safe is to know that your brakes are lined with brake lining from Johns-Manville headquarters—Johns-Manville.

And don't forget the place—at the O. V. Doak service station.

highway upon which they are driving when the crash comes.

However it's bound to happen at times and the unfortunate motorist who shows sufficient judgment in procuring the services of the Stevenson company buys service that is guaranteed to put his car back on the road again virtually as good as new.

Very frequently, a peppy motor, sturdy and responsive, will get the motorist out of these jams along the road. It pays any more to keep the car tuned up to its best pitch. Watch it carefully. Keep it in the pink of condition so that it may deliver smooth keen performance. Stevenson can do this for you.

If your motor needs a thorough overhauling, take it to Stevenson and be certain that your work's done right. If it's repair work—something out of order something broken—it'll be right when it leaves the Stevenson shop. They guarantee their work.

MIDLAND'S JUNIOR AND SENIOR CLASSES PRESENT PLAY TONIGHT

Dr. J. L. Eisenberg, Slippery Rock College Chief, Will Deliver Commencement Address Tomorrow Night.

MIDLAND, Pa., May 28. — Junior and senior classes of Lincoln high school will jointly present "The Set of the Sail," three-act play adapted to school use by Mrs. Elizabeth Wege, at the graduates' annual class night exercises in the school auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Dr. J. L. Eisenberg, principal of Slippery Rock State Teachers' college, will deliver the commencement address tomorrow night, when graduates will be given diplomas by G. B. Newcomer, president of the Steel City board of education.

In the first act of the class night play, junior girls will form a daisy chain while singing a farewell to seniors. Seniors will respond in song.

Anna Hill, president of the graduating class, will welcome parents, followed by a senior song and jokes by Paul Samuels, class jester.

Richard Graham as historian and John Graham as Father Time will picture lives of the graduates from infancy, through school days to old age in the first scene of act two. First grade pupils will sing a song between scenes.

In the closing scene of the second act, Gertrude Nevich will interpret a dance "Class Spirit," depicting the setting of the sail on the sea of life, from which the play is named.

Group of sailing songs will be a feature of the scene, which will be effectively staged.

In act three, "The Witches' Scene" class will and prophecy will be read and a farewell song rendered. Louise Schulte, Kathryn Bream and Dorothy Black will fill the witch roles. Helen Dawson will be class representative and Ada Graham will read the seniors' will.

Grace Borchert will sing an off-stage lullaby and "Silver Threads Among the Gold," sung by Jack Douglas, will conclude the program.

HOLIDAY CARD AT IDORA PARK

Famous Orchestra and Marathon Dancer at Youngstown.

The stage is set for a holiday program at Idora park, Youngstown, on Decoration day.

One of the outstanding features is the appearance of Hy Steed and his Commodores, a nationally popular dance orchestra. This band was originally a New York attraction and later a Keith circuit musical act for nearly two years. Dancing will be featured both afternoon and night on Memorial day.

Albert Kish, world's record marathon dancer, is to be the Idora park entry in the international marathon dance contest at Madison Square Garden, New York City, on June 10. Kish is now in training. He will dance all afternoon on Decoration day.

Among other features is the new Tilt-a-Whirl, the very latest in amusement rides. A herd of Alaskan reindeer and an island of monkeys are attractions that delight the youngsters.

On the midway more than 50 amusements are found.

A free fireworks display will be the attraction on Wednesday night.

Following strikes in iron-ore mines and sugar mills of Sweden, extra shifts are being employed to catch up in production.

Derek McCulloch, known widely in England as "Uncle Mac" of radio fame, recently underwent his twentieth operation in a London hospital.

Miss Lizzie Morris, of Dundee, Scotland, recently cycled a rough 192 miles from Loch Earn to Loch Lomond in one day.

AN UGLY SKIN AND HOW TO CLEAR IT UP

Finding the Base of Beauty and Building On It.

American women are usually considered the most beautiful in the world, but at that one has only to walk the streets of East Liverpool to see that many are not making the most of themselves. The droop of the figures that denotes constant fatigue, the eyes that show a weariness always, and the yellowish, clogged skin shows that many women are foregoing their birthright.

Beauty is always based on health. The greatest foes to it are that congestion we call catarrh and that condition generally known as constipation. Catarrh isn't always evident to women who suffer from it. They are often inclined to class it as some ailment peculiar to their sex and suffer in silence. The result is always the accumulation of poisons that undermine the health.

When catarrh is general in the system—systemic, we say—it is usually accompanied by constipation, which in turn lets remain the poisons of the fatigue in the blood. With inactive liver and overworked kidneys, the skin becomes clogged, loses its freshness of appearance, and all too frequently takes on a yellowish tinge.

Remedies for these conditions are comparatively simple. The first of them is a general clearing out of the system; the second is to allay the catarrhal symptoms, and the third is to build up the bodily strength. In all of these nothing has quite equalled the famous World's Tonic. A course of this remarkable medicine, with the drinking of plenty of good water, a moderate regulation of the diet to avoid too much rich or sweet food and reasonable exercise, will improve appearance of any woman, give her more energy, make her feel better in every way, and restore that magnetism that will make her attractive. World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's, also C. N. Brannan's, Wellsville, and all other good druggists.—(278).

"Flying Circus" is Staged.

ATHENS, May 28.—One man is reported dying in Shelters Arms hospital, here today, and two others have minor injuries as the result of an airplane crash.

Emerson Carsey, 28, who was pinned beneath the wreckage of the plane by spectators who rushed to the scene, was taken to the hospital where it was found that he was suffering from a fractured skull, both arms broken and possible internal injuries.

Scott, operating under the name of "Scott's Flying Circus," had taken Carsey and Barnes as passengers in his plane, said to have been a new biplane. The plane reached a height of 100 feet when the controls locked. The ship slipped into a dive and crashed to the earth.

Carsey was found pinned beneath the wreckage of the plane by spectators who rushed to the scene. He was taken to the hospital where it was found that he was suffering from a fractured skull, both arms broken and possible internal injuries.

Scott was also unconscious when taken from the wreck, but revived after arriving at the hospital. He is said to have escaped with minor cuts and bruises. Barnes was slightly injured.

Scott, a former army pilot, has been flying for years as a barnstorming pilot. He had purchased the plane recently and had flown it from Denver, where it is said to have been made.

WONDER WOMAN AT AMERICAN

Princess Yvonne, known as the "psychic wonder" woman, will feature a special bill of entertainment the first three days of the week at the American theatre.

Princess Yvonne will answer questions about love affairs, business, journeys, marriages, investments, real estate, money matters and lost articles.

The film for the first three days is "Tea for Three," featuring Alleen Pringle and Lew Cody.

The late Harry Houdini, who witnessed Yvonne's New York debut, declared her one of the greatest mystery women of the American stage and offered her a lucrative salary to become a part of his great mystery organization. However, a long advance list of engagements made it impossible of acceptance of the Houdini offer. While blindfolded Yvonne calls people by their names, describes hidden articles, restores lost articles, gives advice on business and investments as well as upon love.

Delegates to the international Lions' convention, which will be held at Des Moines, Iowa, July 10-13, will be elected at the dinner meeting of the local club in the Travelers' hotel grill at 6:15 o'clock tomorrow evening.

There being no meeting last week members of the club will observe "Know Ohio Week" at tomorrow's session. Short talks will be made by club members.

Fight Chester Dance

the promoters for the use of the building," Milby said.

The mayor asserted that Louis J. Alteman an Dr. E. Balch, Pittsburgh, promoters of the dance, came to him last Thursday night seeking permission to use the city auditorium. They agreed, he said, to turn over 15 percent of their proceeds to the city for the use of the hall. He said that he telephoned "one or two of the councilmen" who stated that they could see no harm in renting the building and the men were told to go ahead with arrangements.

Opposition to the proposed dance developed Saturday afternoon when posters were put up in Chester announcing the affair in "Chester's new ballroom." Representatives of the Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, United Presbyterian, Christian, Free Methodist and Nazarene churches attended the meeting.

The committee named to confer with the dance promoters and city officials included F. S. Huff, Sr., chairman; Joseph Davis, Lee Freshwater, M. E. Epley and E. A. Darbin.

Ask $400 to Quit.
The promoters admitted today that they had offered to cancel preparations for the dance if the citizens would reimburse them to the extent of $400, which they asserted would partially pay for what had been spent in advertising the contest. Approximately $600 has already been spent but this figure has been cut to $400 through "friendship for Mayor Milby," it was stated.

The committee conferred with members of council and the promoters both before and after church services last night. Council met in caucus shortly before midnight when they are said to have voted to back up Mayor Milby in his rental of the hall.

Posters advertising the dance, which had been placed on poles and mail boxes in Chester, were removed yesterday, this being a violation of the city ordinance.

The promoters claimed today that 40 entries for the dance had already been received and that 50 would be on hand when the contest starts tonight.

VETS OF THREE WARS ATTEND MEMORIAL MEET

Dr. Frederic A. Dean
Delivers Sermon on
"Peace."

SUNDAY SERVICE

Soldier Organizations and Auxiliaries Attend Church.

Veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World wars and allied organizations attended memorial exercises at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday morning, when the pastor, Rev. Frederic A. Dean, preached on "The Progress of World Peace."

General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, was represented by eight of its surviving 21 members. Delegations of members of East Liverpool post, No. 4, American Legion, and Private Eddy post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, marched to the church, headed by their post colors.

Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary and auxiliary members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars were also present.

Special music was rendered by the church choir directed by Oliver Johnson. Mrs. Frederick Dean, wife of the pastor, read a poem dedicated to the G. A. R.

Text of Dr. Dean's address follows: "We have met in tender memory of the dear and precious dead of the nation who have died in all our wars, also in honor of the living soldiers of three generations, who obeyed the call to arms and went forth bravely to do their duty and by the grace of God are with us still."

"The supreme sentiment at the heart of America is peace. Peace is a passion with American people. America has never been a nation of war. America was born in the hearts of those who loved peace. All the peoples of the original colonial settlements left the conflicts and strife of Europe to carve out of the wilderness a new civilization whose cornerstone should be peace."

"Our institutions since that day have been built steadfastly on that foundation. We do not believe in wars of aggression and such a war has never been waged by our people. Nevertheless America has been in several wars. Our nation as it was forming, was growing in its bosom a frightful cancer—human slavery. Such a hideous growth could not, apparently, be removed by peaceful means, and the sword was unsheathed to cut it away. As Lincoln said: 'The awful calamity of civil war may be but a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins, to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole people.'"

"The Civil war was a battle of conscience. Human slavery could not remain a part of American civilization. The nation's curse must be abolished and it was abolished through the blood of those who loved peace. Forgiveness is the very essence of peace. No hymns of hate have ever been sung by American soldiers over the dead bodies of the foe. The Union soldiers instantly forgave the foe as he laid down his arms. Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic first decorated the graves of the Confederate dead in the northern cemeteries. "When General Grant handed back General Lee's sword, he asked: 'How many men have you?' The number was given. General Grant asked again: 'Are they in need of rations?' 'Yes,' was General Lee's reply. Rations were ordered immediately. "Have they horses?' asked General Grant. 'They have,' replied General Lee. 'Let them keep them to till the soil that they may have a harvest the coming season,' said General Grant. Such is the peace at the heart of America."

Cry of Anguish From Cuba.
"A cry of anguish came up from Cuba 30 years ago. A people suffered the horrors of despotism under the last vestige of Spanish oppression in the new world. American men heard the cry and went down to the unhappy isle and gave liberty and peace to that oppressed people and extended the same blessings to the oppressed people of the Philippines."

"Last of all, a cry more desperate and appealing than any that was ever uttered before, came from the peoples of Europe, as they battled in vain with a mailed monster of prodigious power. America heard the cry and instantly our whole land was busy with vast preparations. Young men were being enlisted in every town and city, drilled and uniformed. Nor were the women excepted in this great call. Literally millions of women were busy making articles for camp or field, or drilling for service in hospitals."

"Mighty camps were built in every part of the land; factories, shops and mills ceased to make ordinary products and turned to making munitions of war. Soon 2,000,000 men, drilled, equipped, and thrilling with their mission, were crossing the seas in transports to take part in the greatest war in history. American soldiers filled up the trenches. The fierce foe was hurled back at the Meuse, the Marne, the Argonne, at San Mehel, Democracy and liberty were preserved for the whole world."

"The most astonishing movement in progress for abolishing of war and the bringing in of perpetual peace in the world. As the war was ended, humanity lifted up its bleeding form and surveying the scene of horrors, breathed the fervent hope that sometime cruel war would be outlawed. "That hope first found feeble expression in The League of Nations. Since then the whole idea of war has undergone a profound analysis by the civilized peoples of the world. Out of this deep study has grown a powerful public conscience demanding the outlawry of war and the establishing of permanent peace among the nations of the earth.

Desire for Peace.
"Such widespread popular desire for world peace is the most gratifying phenomenon of modern times. This is the fruit of ten years of sober reflection on the agonies and horrors of all wars and especially of the last terrible conflict. This insistent desire which amounts almost to a modern passion for the outlawry of war and the establishing of universal peace, has aroused the statesmen and rulers of the world to action. So there is now a most significant political movement for the outlawing of war and the bringing in of universal peace among the nations of mankind."

"The French government has the honor of taking the first step. On June 20, 1927, it drew up a treaty called 'Pact of Perpetual Friendship between France and the United States.' It was based on the mutual friendship and esteem of two nations whom war has never divided and who have always been drawn closer together by common defense of liberty and justice."

"Article I of this document declares that the two nations condemn recourse to war and renounce it as an instrument of their national policy towards each other."

"Article II declares that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts, of whatsoever nature or whatsoever origin they may be, which may arise between France and United States of America shall never be sought by either side except by pacific means."

This Pact of Perpetual Friendship between France and the United States submitted by the French government to our state document on mutual friendship ever transmitted from one nation to another. Its provisions were instantly accepted by Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, with the further suggestion that an effort be made to obtain the adherence of all the principal powers of the world to a declaration renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. The French government immediately agreed to this idea of world peace and Secretary Kellogg set to work at once to gain the adherence of all the principal nations of the world."

"The first article of this anti-war treaty solemnly declares that all the nations condemn recourse to war and renounce it as an instrument of national policy. The second article solemnly declares that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or origin which might arise among them shall never be sought on either side except by pacific means."

"It is probable that all the nations of the world, small and great, will sign this anti-war treaty. Already France, Great Britain, United States, Germany, Italy, have signed it. Also the 21 American republics and the six British nations, to wit: Irish Free State, Australia, New Zealand, S. Africa, Canada and India."

"Many efforts have been made during the past 10 years for world peace, such as the Bryan treaties, Knox treaties, &c. The League of Nations, last September, adopted a joint resolution condemning aggressive war as an international crime and that all peaceable means must be employed for settlement of all disputes of any nature whatsoever which might arise between the several states. Also the Locarno treaties in 1925 and the two anti-war resolutions drafted by the 21 American republics at Havana recently."

Kellogg's Viewpoint.
"Secretary Kellogg spoke as follows: 'From the broad standpoint of humanity and civilization, all war is an assault upon the stability of human society and should be suppressed in the common interest. The government of the United States desires to see the institution of war abolished and stands ready to conclude with the French, British, Italian, German, and Japan governments, a single multilateral treaty open to subsequent adherence by any and all governments, binding parties thereto not to resort to war with one another.'"

"In addition to treaties there must be an aroused public conscience against the utter horror and frightfulness of war. The peoples of the world must enjoy a peaceful mind, and treaties such as those I have discussed and the efforts of statesmen to advance the cause of world peace, can only be regarded as part of the problem. The coming into force among the above named six powers of an effective anti-war treaty and their observance thereof would be a practical guarantee against a second world war. This in itself would be a tremendous service to humanity."

Polar Balloon Lost

lengths ranging from 30 to 40 meters, in the hope that additional signals may be intercepted that will afford some clue to the location of General Umberto Nobile's missing dirigible Italia.

The trio of experienced radio men were assigned to the task of concentrating on the 30 to 40 meter range as the result of a distress call, picked up early yesterday by radio corporation and amateur operators here.

Repeated over a period of some two hours, the message, in substance, read:

"Dirigible Italia of General Nobile in distress, supplied with short wave length 30.33 radio. (Signed) Dirigible Italia."

General Umberto Nobile.

Pope Is Distressed.
ROM May 28.—Pope Pius XI was deeply distressed today over the tragic disappearance of Gen. Umberto Nobile and his fellow flyers on the Italian polar exploration balloon Italia.

The pontiff is the personal friend of the explorer. Just before the Italia took off for Stolp Pomerania Gen. Nobile and the other members of the expedition were received in audience by the Pope who presented them with a wooden cross which was dropped upon the ice at the pole.

Four Men Fined.
Found guilty upon charges of intoxication three men, arrested by Patrolman Curran in St. Clair avenue early this morning were fined $15 and costs each when arraigned before Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Donald Kilmer was fined $1 and costs upon a charge of reckless driving inasmuch as four passengers were riding in the seat of a roadster.

BLOOD-THIRSTY BANK BANDITS ELUDE POSSES

Search for Outlaws
Along Kansas-Colorado Line.

KILL THREE MEN

Fate of Teller, Who Was Abducted, Unknown.

LAMAR, Colo., May 28.—Search for the four bandits who robbed the First National bank of this city, leaving a trail of murder in their wake, centered today along the southern Kansas-Colorado state line. Leaders of the posse expressed fears, however, that the quartet of desperadoes had eluded their net.

The casualty list to date stands at three known dead, two wounded and one missing. A. N. Parrish, president of the bank, and his son, John Parrish, cashier, were killed outright during the holdup. Dr. W. W. Winger of Dighton, Kans., was slain, presumably by the bandits, after being lured from his home to attend one of the wounded desperadoes.

The fate of E. A. Kessinger, bank teller, who was abducted by the bandits, is still unknown. It is believed he has either been killed or is being held as a "pawn" through whom the bandits hope to negotiate for their lives and assurance of a fair trial if they are cornered by the posse.

Two Men Wounded.
Reports from Hill City, Kansas, state that two men from that place were shot and seriously wounded when a sheriff's posse mistook them for bandits. This incident reflects the hair-trigger tension throughout the district. Undoubtedly the bandits, when found, will be shot on sight.

The greatest manhunt in the history of the west has gathered momentum each hour since the daring bank robbery of last Wednesday. Virtually every male resident within 100 miles of the Kansas-Colorado state line has taken up arms and joined one of a dozen army-like posses scouring the district.

ROTARY TO HONOR TWO GRADUATES

Gale Williams and Robert Hicks, first honor and "greatest effort" students in this year's high school graduating class, will receive gold medals at tomorrow's luncheon of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. High school Principal B. G. Ludwig and parents of the two students will be special guests. Superintendent of Schools McVay will be the chairman of the meeting. Nomination of directors will also take place.

PICNIC TUESDAY FOR 1928 CLASS

Members of the 1928 class of the high school will hold a picnic at Rock Springs park, Chester, tomorrow evening. High School Principal B. G. Ludwig and senior class teachers will be special guests.

Members of Auxiliary No. 2, Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, will serve supper at 6:30 o'clock. The committee on arrangements is made up of John Pennebaker, president, and Miss Lillian Smith, secretary-treasurer of the class.

TWO MEN HELD IN HEN THEFT

George Eichler, 18, and Ray E. Cameron, 26, West township were held for the grand jury under $1,500 bond each by Justice M. K. Zimmerman, Lisbon, today, after they pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering in connection with the theft of 60 chickens from W. J. Berger, Butler township farmer, last Thursday night. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter.

Three hundred sewing machines of American make are being installed in a new clothing factory in South Africa.

HONOR MOTHERS OF DEAD VETS

Mothers of deceased veterans will be honored in the union Memorial Day exercises here Wednesday.

Automobiles will be provided for their convenience in the parade and also to convey them to River-view cemetery where exercises will be held.

Mothers of veterans who died in the service or since the war are requested to notify the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, telephone 845, before Tuesday night so that arrangements may be made for sufficient automobiles.

DRIVER KILLED IN-AUTO RACE

Ray Goodwin Dies in Toledo as Kin
Look on.

TOLEDO, O., May 28.—The body of Roy Goodwin, 25, Ann Arbor, Mich., auto race driver who was killed here yesterday, was being returned to his home for burial today.

Goodwin was killed yesterday afternoon at the Fort Miami tracks in the sixth lap of a 160-mile race when several cars piled up.

Goodwin's wife, Carrie, and their five-year-old daughter Darline, witnessed the tragedy.

Other drivers sustained only minor injuries.

But now, electricity can run around the earth, carrying any message you please, seven times in a second, and the telephone takes you from New York to Los Angeles, connections included, in a minute. Long distance running is a waste of energy. Men were made to think, not to run.

APPEAL to man's intelligence and you get a response more or less gratifying, usually LESS.

Appeal to superstitious fear and response is immediate, complete. Some found in the great pyramid a prediction of "great world tribulation" on the night of May 29, next Tuesday. The gullible expect a tidal wave sweeping over England. Many have actually cancelled their week-end accommodations at seaside hotels.

THERE is no limit to human credulity. A. D. 1666 seemed a good year for the world to end and thousands in Europe were persuaded that it would end that year.

They gave away land or sold it for less than it was worth, dressed in pure white and went to mountain tops, all ready for the ascent to Heaven.

They felt foolish when the world didn't end, and they couldn't get their land back. Don't let May 29 frighten you into sacrificing good stocks or real estate.

MERCHANTS throughout the country will learn with interest that the Wanamaker store in New York has abandoned broadcasting, because "it is not helping the store in general or in an advertising way."

THE human mind is not interested in two things at once. A little boy looking at the circus hasn't his mind on multiplication or spelling. He is thinking about elephants and clowns.

London now demands that all policemen be at least six feet tall.

HULL CLAIMS N. CAROLINA

Al Smith's Friends,
However, Concede
Nothing.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 28.—North Carolina's preference to the presidential nomination of Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee apparently grew today as unofficial reports of Saturday's precinct meetings continued to trickle in.

These reports indicated that a majority of the delegates in the state convention here June 12 will be either pledged or favorable to the Tennesseean.

While Hull headquarters claimed 80 of the 100 counties in the state, supporters of Governor Al Smith were conceding nothing, and maintained the county conventions June 9 will be the only accurate means of testing the respective strength of the two leading favorites.

On the basis of fairly complete reports, indications were that Hull will have a safe majority of the votes. In the precinct meetings, approximately 550 state convention votes were obtained by Hull against Smith's 385. It appeared at least 652 delegate would be uninstructed. Those described simply as anti-Smith stood unofficially at an even 100, and those instructed to vote against a wet candidate were 42. Sixty-four votes will be determined at a mass meeting on June 9.

The result of the precinct meeting is expected only to sharpen the lines of contest prior to the county conventions and the final line-up of the state convention.

Grill Suspect

The brown fur-lined coat belonging to Beatrice was found half way between the road and ravine. Nearer to the ravine the child's shoes were discovered, together with some of her clothes. The shoes were clear of mud indicating, Deputy Kindsvatter said, that the child had not wandered to the lonely spot.

Beatrice disappeared from in front of the Rosenbaum home Youngstown, early May 14. Neighbors said they saw her leave in an automobile driven by an unidentified man, still sought as the kidnaper.

Mysterious clues from Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York extended the search for Beatrice over a radius of 100 miles.

Hundreds of Youngstown citizens and Boy Scouts were enlisted in the search for the missing child and her alleged kidnaper during the first few days after she disappeared. Rewards totaling $1,275 were posted for Beatrice's return. The brothers of Max Rosenbaum, wealthy Youngstown merchants, and Cleveland relatives contributed to the reward.

Lakes in the vicinity of Youngstown were dragged. There was no trace of the child until yesterday.

400 K. of C. Attend Initiation, Banquet

State Deputy W. E. Haas, His Aide, Robert Renert, Frank Higgins and Clergymen Speak at Dinner Climaxing Day's Program.

Approximately 400 Knights of Columbus and candidates took part in second and third degree initiation ceremonies conducted in Wellsville yesterday, the program including mass in the morning, degree work in the afternoon and a banquet in the city hall in the evening.

State and district officers were seated at the banquet tables in the city hall auditorium for the concluding event of the day.

Addresses were made by W. E. Haas, of Delaware, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus; Rev. E. J. Gracey, of Wellsville; Rev. James Smith of St. Aloysius, East Liverpool; Rev. John L. Maurer, of St. Anne's, East Liverpool; Fathers Manning, Salem, and Hanifan, Youngstown; Frank Higgins, master of the fourth degree, Youngstown, and others.

Mayor Wallace L. Fogo delivered the address of welcome to the visiting Knights of Columbus.

Guests also included State Warden E. J. Fitzgerald of East Liverpool, and District Deputy George O'Brien of Alliance.

Crattin W. Dugan, district deputy and state advocate, was toastmaster.

While the majority of the talks were of an impromptu nature, the speakers largely enunciated the principles of the order—charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism, stressing the loyalty and patriotism of the order and the unselfish principles that govern it.

The importance of boy welfare work was stressed by Father Smith of East Liverpool. Father Smith and Carroll council recently organized the first unit of the Columbian Squares in Ohio—a 41 the thirty-first in the United States.

Music during the program was provided by Richard Ginder, pianist, and James Sabbato, xylophonist, both Wellsville boys.

The day's program opened with high mass at 10:30 o'clock in the immaculate Conception church here, celebrated by Rev. Edward J. Gracey, pastor.

Lunch was served by the ladies of the church at noon. Second and third degrees were exemplified in the afternoon in the school hall. The second degree was conducted by members of the Salem council, while the third degree was in charge of State Deputy Haas, assisted by Robert Renert of Cincinnati, and staff.

Mrs. Jetta McCormack, daughter Mary and son James, motored to Canton Saturday.

O. M. Ashbaugh, spent the week-end with relatives in East Liverpool.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Beadle announced the birth of a daughter Wednesday.

A Memorial service will be held at the Foundry Bridge near the G. A. R. hall on Main street Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, in honor of the veterans who lost their lives at sea, after this service, the following program will be given at the St. Patrick's cemetery: music by the band, Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Mary Maher; song by the choir; Memorial service by the W. R. C.; "Star Spangled Banner"; salute by the firing squad; American legion service; taps; address by Rev. James H. Smith, of East Liverpool; blessing of the Memorial monument by Rev. E. B. Conry; The procession will reform and march to the G. A. R. hall, to reform in the afternoon at one o'clock for the closing exercises of the day.

Annual inspection of the Betsy Ross chapter of the Eastern Star, Salineville, was held Friday evening. The banquet was at the Methodist church, dinner being served at 6 o'clock, in the dining room of the church by Mrs. Dora Hunter's circle. After the dinner exercises were held in the Masonic hall, Main street. The inspection was made by Miss Ethel Wood, of Massillon.

There was delegations present from Minerva, Salem, Lisbon, East Liverpool, Hanoverton, Bergholtz, and one visitor from Carrollton, and one from Chicago, Ill.

Rev. W. S. Martin has returned from a visit with friends in Washington and Green counties, Pa.

Foster, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson, of Lisbon, was buried in the Woodland cemetery Saturday afternoon. The youth died at the home of his parents Thursday, after a short illness.

MRS. V. R. PEACHEY PARTY CHAIRLADY

Mrs. V. R. Peachey is chairlady in charge of arrangements for the card party and entertainment on Thursday evening in the immaculate Conception school hall, Eleventh street.

Her committee will include Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. John Paoletto, Miss Mary Riley, Mrs. Thomas Ryan, Mrs. Newton Ryan, Mrs. J. H. Rawlings and Mrs. E. G. Scholl.

GIRLS' SOCIETY TO MEET TONIGHT

Meeting of the Girl's Friendly Society will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Episcopal parish hall, Eleventh and Center streets.

Inasmuch as it will be the final meeting of the year, officers request a complete attendance.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fraser of Yellow Creek township, announce the birth of a baby son, born in the East Liverpool hospital. The mother will be remembered as Miss Ruth Burbick.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fassett and daughter, Evelyn, Sixth street, and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Rolley, Ninth and Broadway, visited in Augusta yesterday.

SENATOR LEWIS CHILDREN IN MEMORIAL DAY PARADE LINE SPEAKER HERE

Monument and Cemetery Services are Planned.

MARCH AT 8:30

Rev. E. J. Gracey to Speak at Flag-raising Exercises.

Senator Earl Lewis of St. Clairsville, will deliver the principal address at annual Memorial services Wednesday morning at Spring Hill cemetery under auspices of Wellsville post No. 70, American Legion.

Plans for the exercises were announced today by officers of the post.

The services will open with the customary exercises at 8 o'clock at the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument in Fourth street and Riverside avenue. This will be followed by the march to the cemetery and the exercises there.

Henry Cope Post, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps will meet at 614 Main street while the Legion and its auxiliary will assemble at the post rooms, 713 Main street, at 8 o'clock and, together with visiting ex-service men and patriotic citizens, will march to the monument.

P. W. McKenzie will raise the flag and Rev. E. J. Gracey, pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, will deliver a short address.

From the public square the ex-service men, citizens, auxiliary, relief corps and others will march to the cemetery, with school children falling in line at Tenth street.

The route of the parade follows: Main to Tenth street; Tenth street to cemetery.

The following program will be given at the cemetery:

Prayer—Rev. D. E. Young, pastor of the First Christian church.

"America"—Assembly.

Reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address—Edward T. Fogo.

Address—Senator Earl Lewis.

G. A. R. services.

Benediction—Rev. A. A. Reavley, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Decorations of graves—G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, American Legion, school children.

Officers in charge of the ceremonies are: Marshal, John B. Fickes; office of the day, John Grafton; adjutant, Joseph Martz; color bearers, Jesse Heathorne and Roland Heathorne; color guards, Fred Heidman and Price Schmidt; in charge of school children, Superintendent S. E. Daw and teachers; master of ceremonies, Edward T. Fogo.

The executive committee, including representatives of the various organizations, is: Chairman, John Fickes; secretary, Ray Jacobs; G. A. R., P. W. McKenzie and Henry Chapman; Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Harry Beresford, Miss Mary Cope; American Legion, Earl Evans, Otis Weekley and Samuel Adams.

In the event of inclement weather, exercises will be held in the City hall.

Schools to Aid in Memorial Program Here.

Superintendent of Schools S. E. Daw today asked cooperation of parents in organizing the school children's unit of the Memorial day parade to be held here Wednesday morning.

All children above the first grade have been requested by the school authorities to meet at their respective buildings on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock to take part in the ceremonies.

From their buildings they will march to Ninth street where they will form in line at 8:30 o'clock.

Each child will be provided with a smaller American flag, furnished by the American Legion.

Children of McKinley building will be in charge of Miss Freda Furrer; Garfield building, Miss Isabelle Rannou and Miss Dorothy Gibson; and the MacDonald building, Paul Skinner.

Parents are asked to have children ready at the appointed time in order that they may participate in the exercises.

BRIDGEPORT MAN IS FINED HERE

Guy Stealey, Bridgeport, arrested on a charge of possessing liquor, was fined $100 at a hearing yesterday before Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Stealey and two companions, in a roadster, were arrested while driving, it is said, at a high rate of speed here. Police, it is said, found the liquor in the car.

Frank Zetto, E. Snider, Roland Vashinder and Fred Saker, all of Salineville, denied having destroyed the "evidence" when they were arrested here in an automobile and will get a hearing tonight before Mayor Fogo.

The evidence in the case was said to have been home brew.

Alonzo Porter, charged with disorderly conduct, will get a hearing tonight before the mayor.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Deemer, First street, are confined to their home by illness.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

J. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Sebring

Memorial day gives promise of being the best arranged observance the city has held for several years. James Eardley, general chairman of the committee, planning the program, has announced that the line of march would start from Memorial hall at 9:30 Wednesday morning, headed by the Sebring City band. After the band will follow the color bearers, the firing squad and executive men of the world war, G. A. R. and Spanish war veterans will join the march. Automobiles will be provided for G. A. R. veterans. About 50 graves will be decorated by the American Legion in five cemeteries. Flowers have been sent to all Gold Star mothers. The speaker will be I. F. Mellinger of Leontia.

Campaign for $750, Sebring's quota needed to enter the five-city Scout league opened Friday in the Potteries to continue for one week. A meeting of citizens and Scout committees was held Wednesday evening at William Moorman's, North 15th street, when plans for the drive were made. C. M. Thomas, County Scout executive, will be in Sebring to help conduct the drive and organize the Sebring troop.

Only 20 grade and high school students have enrolled for summer school at McKinley high school. Superintendent S. H. Pollock has announced. Unless this number can be increased to 40, it will be impossible to hold summer sessions.

Sebring entertainers offered program for patients at the Canfield sanatorium Thursday evening. The Silver Mask orchestra was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eans, Timothy Desmond, Thomas Rankin, and the Methodist church quartet. Solos were sung by Frank Maley accompanied by his wife, Joseph Thompson accompanied Mrs. R. A. Courtney at the piano.

The "Just-Us Girls" club was entertained Thursday evening at the home of Miss Mildred McClaren, West Indiana avenue. Miss Kathryn Waters was assistant hostess. Bridge honors were won by Miss Vivian Heldeger and Miss Estella O'Donnell.

Mrs. George Court of Sebring, was hostess to the Harmony club at her home Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in contests and radio music. Mrs. Charles Morrow won the contest honors. Mrs. Court was assisted by Mrs. Thomas Ritter and Mrs. H. Deutcheon in serving lunch. The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Herbert Deutcheon, Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Roger Lawson, Ohio avenue, entertained the Swastika club at her home Thursday evening. Mrs. William Bates and Mrs. C. Cameron were invited guests. Bridge was the diversion of the evening. Honors were won by Mrs. Jack Newton and Mrs. Mary Rhue. A two course lunch was served by the hostess with American beauty roses as favors.

Miss Lora Menges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Menges, East Michigan avenue, graduated from the Allegheny General hospital at Pittsburgh, Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Menges attended the exercises.

Mrs. W. C. Alsborn of Utica, is visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Carr, West Indiana avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mills and Mrs. F. O. Brooks motored to Cleveland Thursday. Mr. Herman and Mr. Mills attended a Shrine ceremonial.

"CRIME PARTNERS" WINS AT CERAMIC

Crooks and lovers, melodrama and comedy, thrills and laughter, all combine to make "Partners in Crime," now playing at the Ceramic theatre, an entertainment masterpiece.

In this Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton team comedy, Paramount has moulded every element that makes a picture worth going miles to see. "Knife" Reagan and his gang, with the dud detective and the fresh reporter, will find a warm reception wherever they go for they portray the stuff that makes the heart beat faster and the laugh muscles ache from exercise.

"Partners in Crime" is something absolutely new in team comedies. In the first place it is a red blooded melodrama. Without the laughs it stands on its merits as a great bit of dramatic entertainment.

But there are Beery and Hatton and how they do take advantage of the laugh situations in the picture! Add comedy, provided by two of the greatest comedians on the screen, to a crook story teeming with excitement, then put in a charming love theme for good measure and you have "Partners in Crime."

It is refreshing to see Beery and Hatton in straight comedy characterizations minus all clowning and without ludicrous costumes. Beery takes the part of a slow thinking detective while Hatton has a dual role. He is a newspaper reporter and "Knife" Reagan, terror of the underworld.

Mary Brian and Jack Liden carry the love interest in a way that adds much to the story while William Powell contributes a fine bit of villainy as an underworld gang leader.

The story opens with a city terrorized by underworld gangsters. An ambitious young district attorney declares war on the crooks and gets himself kidnaped for his trouble. Beery and Hatton rush to the rescue, spurred on by the hope of winning favor in the girl's eyes. She loves the kidnaped attorney but they think he is just a relative of hers.

There are gang fights, hand to hand encounters and then one of the most thrilling and laughable climaxes imaginable.

City League Scrap For Second Place Continues This Week

Riley Squad to Defend Berth Against Madison

Clash Tonight at Smith Field; Turk Nash and K. T. K., Tied for Third, Tangle at Columbian Park.

The scramble for second and third places in the City league first half race will continue at a merry clip this week, with something bound to happen before the six-day lap finishes Friday night.

With four victories and three defeats, Frank Riley's Chester club is holding down that berth now, although by an eyelash, with Turk Nash and K. T. K., tied for third place, and right on their heels a scant half game away.

The Madison Billiards are slated for action against the West Virginians tonight at Smith Field and are expected to present a somewhat stronger lineup.

The third place deadlock will be fractured when Turk Nash and K. T. K. tangle at Columbian park. Each club has won three and lost three.

The winner in tonight's game, consequently, will be undisputed occupant of the position and, in the event that the Madison Billiards slip one over on Chester, would go into second place.

Wellsville, the league leader, will clash with Joe Dickey's Homer Laughlin China tomorrow night at Newell park, and while the pace setters naturally are expected to win, anything may happen. It doesn't seem natural for Joe Dickey and his ball club to be tugging away at the bottom of the pile and it may be safe to say that future developments may find the Potters climbing towards the top.

The Newell combine is scheduled to mix with Saul McCoy's club on Thursday at Columbian park and on the same night, Chester will clash with Turk Nash, probably at Patterson Field. John Fowler's lads will meet Madison Billiards in the East End and Kates go to Wellsville on Friday.

U. S. Open Will Draw Greatest

World's Stars to Play in June at Chicago.

By ERNEST L. HEITKAMP

CHICAGO, May 28.—Beyond all doubt the U. S. Open Golf Championship to be held at Olympia Fields Country Club, Matteson, Ill., close by this city, on June 21-22-23 will be the biggest event in the history of American golf.

It will be the biggest in the matter of the field—biggest, I mean, in the quality of the field to play for the American open title. Fewer players will actually compete at Olympia Fields than in some former meet, because of the recently instituted sectional qualifying rounds and ultimately at Olympia Field every professional and amateur of real importance throughout this country and abroad will be seen in action. What a feast—or series of feasts—for the enthusiastic golf gallery.

Foreign Stars

There is no reason why any golfer of first importance should fail to survive the qualifying rounds. Ten places are being reserved at Olympia Fields for as many European foreign stars, who will not be called upon to qualify by play. Most of the leading American professional stars and some of our amateur stars also will enter without qualifying because of their showing in last year's American open at Oakmont. But aside from these places there are enough vacancies to provide for every player likely to make a real bid for the highest title in American golf.

Check over in your mind all the golf stars of the world. I cannot do the list full justice. Certainly the field that will tee off on Number Four course on June 21 will be so brilliant that it will make a real golf enthusiast's head swim. Talk about your three-ring circus with its conflicting appeal; no golf enthusiast with any kind of a catholic interest in the theory of the game and the individualities of its chief living exponents, will be able to decide just which part of the course should demand his attention.

Bobby Jones To Play.

Bobby Jones will be there. Bobby by the incomparable; Bobby the "greatest golfer of all times" according to the Britishers who watched him breeze through their open championship in record figures last year. Bobby the unbeatable, according to those Americans who watched him go through the American amateur championship last year like water over Niagara; Bobby the Perfect, according to hundreds of thousands of admiring golfing friends who have watched him come up from the day when Harry Vardon, the Old Master of golf abroad, playing with Bobby in exhibition matches in this country, pronounced him the "greatest stylist in the United States."

But is the American Open title already in Bobby's bag? Far from it, if we may judge from past experiences. Bobby was just as great last year as this, presumably; yet Tommy Armour won the Open title with Bobby in the field. In match play Hagen gave Bobby almost as bad a beating as Compton gave Hagen in England recently when all the world laughed at Walter. Bobby Jones is a great golfer but he is not incomparable, he is not unbeatable, he is not perfect—on occasions.

Hagen and Others

Hagen will be there, greatest of match players, greatest of finishers; MacDonald Smith will be there, greatest of professional golf machines; Sarazen will be there, Farrell will be there, Armour will be there. Cruikshank will be there—Cruikshank who tied Bobby Jones in their championship a few years back and lost by one stroke in the play-off; and a host of other "possibilities" will be there. The man would say that any one player has even an outstanding chance to win at Olympia Fields is crazy with partisanship.

From abroad Compton will come with the prestige of his win over Hagen; Abe Mitchell, longest of drivers and still greatest of British golfers; George Duncan, always liable to "go crazy" and "burn up" a tournament; perhaps the Argentine who led the British Open field at the end of the second round; in fact "everybody will be there." A great day for a Roman holiday.

star first baseman. The terms of the deal were not disclosed. Waivers on Sisler were asked by the Washington club recently. None of the American League clubs bid for his services but as soon as he was available for trade with the National League clubs the Braves began negotiations which concluded with the purchase. Sisler will report to the Braves at New York tomorrow.

Sisler's career in baseball has been marked with color, consistent leadership in batting and fielding, and no small share of ill fortune. At the height of his climb to leadership in batting he was forced to remain out of the game during the 1923 season because of sinus trouble which affected his eyes.

As a manager, Sisler did not meet with much success. He led the Browns for three years, 1924-25-26. Sisler went to the Senators in a pre-season deal this year. June Abbe Working Good. LEXINGTON—June Abbe, 2:04, the promising pacing stake candidate owned by W. M. Wright of Lexington and Chicago and in the stable of Ben P. White, is working in brilliant fashion for her big engagements. She has traveled a mile in 2:06, which is faster than any of the other stake eligibles have worked. She came the last half at a terrific 1:01.4 clip and the final quarter in 29½ seconds.

RECREATION LEAGUE

With six victories apiece and no defeats the Y. M. C. A. and the Club Billiards are setting the pace in the Review Recreation circuit, but one of the pair will drop back a notch as a result of their meeting scheduled during the present week.

Trotters, Pacers Go Tuesday

Urbana to Fire Opening Gun of Harness Season.

URBANA, May 28.—The opening gun of the 1928 light harness horse racing season will be fired here Tuesday when the trotters and pacers swing into action for the first of a three-day meet. Steinsmen from all sections of the country, including many Grand Circuit stars, will inaugurate their campaign. Among the luminaries are Nat Ray, Vic Fleming, Dr. H. M. Parshall, A. T. (Hump) Morrison, Ben Whitehead, Wirt Malloy, Charley and Denny Valentine, Dick Rogers, Henry Scott, Bl Shively, Jeff Cunningham, Johnny Jones, Will Morrow and Frank Cares.

Many heavily staked big time pacers are expected to provide sizzling action. They are Callie Direct, 2:02; Frisco Star, 2:02½; Lauderdale, 2:05; Lucy Wood, 2:05½; Daisy Gratton, 2:05½; Joe Lewis, 2:05½; Al B., 2:05½; and Leeco Gratton, Jr. 2:05½.

Following the close of the meet here, the scene will shift to Norwalk, O., June 5-8. Sandusky, O., follows, June 11-15; Mansfield, July 18-22 and then the Grand Circuit Inaugural will be held at Toledo, June 25-30.

FLUSHING, N. Y., May 28.—William Johnson, 28, intercollegiate middleweight wrestling champion in 1923 and captain of the Columbia varsity team in that year, is dead of pneumonia at his home here. He was preparing for the Olympic trials. Johnson was a member of the United States wrestling team that competed at Paris in 1924.

Cubs, Fattened By Victories Over Bucs, Face League Leaders

First Place is Stake in Battle With Reds Today

Giants Jump to Third Place by Copping Pair From Phils; White Sox Win Fourth Out of Six Starts, Beating Tigers.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Chicago Cubs can regain first place by beating the league-leading Reds today. The Reds are nobody's set-up, however. They are playing the best ball in the league, having won seven of the last nine starts.

Both of the leaders won yesterday. Carl Mays, Cincinnati's submarine ball expert, whitewashed the Cardinals, 2 to 0. St. Louis dropped back into the second division.

Forty thousand fans saw Sheriff Blake of the Cubs win his fifth straight victory. He held the Pirates to five hits and blanked them 3 to 0. Cliff Heathcote had a perfect day at bat with three hits and drove in two runs.

The Giants jumped to third place by taking two close ones from the Phillies, 5 to 4 and 2 to 1. Ott's single in the eleventh won the opener and Hurst's wild throw in the ninth cost the Phils the nightcap.

The Boston Braves won their first game under Hornsby's management, beating Brooklyn, 4 to 1. The Braves dropped the second game, 8 to 3. Hendrick and Bissonette getting homers. Outside of the Yankees, Chicago is the only American league outfit that has been playing better than 500 ball. The Sox copped their fourth victory in their last six starts by shading Detroit, 3 to 2, in a dual between Lyons and Van Gilder. Lyons yielded only four hits.

The best pitching performance of the day was turned in by Hadley of the Senators, who held the wrecked Athletics to a pair of singles by Bishop and won in a romp, 4 to 1. The Nats hadn't won a game all last week.

The Browns took a 10 to 8 slugfest from Cleveland. The Yankees and the Red Sox did not play.

Points For The Big Olympic Test

When it comes to swimmers California is one of the states which must be considered. When Californians mention swimmers, they always include Georgia Coleman, Los Angeles club star. Miss Coleman holds the junior national title on the ten-foot spring board and is considered a sure bet for the U. S. Olympic team. Well, if Georgia can swim as well as she looks there isn't any question of her ability in the water.

Boston Fans "Neutral" On Hornsby Elevation

While Not Against Him, They Don't Give the Impression of Being Overwhelmingly For Him, Critics Say.

By Davis J. Walsh.

BOSTON, Mass., May 28.—Boston's rather emotional populace is preserving an air of strict neutrality towards Rogers Hornsby and his elevation to the management of the Boston Braves, the third major upheaval of his fortunes within a year. The town in general contents itself with stating that it is not against the young man but, if I am any judge of the statements and comments and counter-statements aired in my presence today, it may be more truthfully said that it is far from for him.

From what I was able to gather, the ousting of a guy by the name of Slattery from Boston in favor of a guy by the name of Hornsby from Texas would have enraged the citizens no end and that the very air would be a brick red with Irish dominoes, if it wasn't for one restraining factor. Nobody, they say, cares one way or the opposite what the Boston Braves do, if anything. There always are a few irresponsible, of course, and these are muttering very darkly in their mustache cup about the "inside story" of Slattery's summary removal. But innuendoes dealing with "inside facts" seem to follow Hornsby's varying fortunes as naturally as the average heel follows a toe and, anyhow, Boston says it isn't interested beyond the fact that it prefers to see Hornsby rather than like him.

Will have to make good. The writer, somehow, gained the impression that their smoldering resentment, far from superficial in spite of their expressed lack of interest, will break in a veritable storm upon Hornsby's fighting head if he fails to make the Braves win. Their antagonism, while dormant enough at the moment, seems to be instinctive. I am informed that they heeded Hornsby by the very first time he appeared at Braves field in a Boston uniform.

Personally, I think that they might be more justified in showing a mood of appreciation for a ball player whose desire to win is exceeded only by his ability to do so—under normal conditions.

The demonstration against Hornsby was prompted, it appears, by the fact that he failed to chase a fly ball hit into short right field, his reigning weakness. The real cause of the outbreak, however, is said to have been deeper than this. Even at that early juncture, they professed to know that Slattery's days were numbered and that Hornsby was to be named as his successor as soon as the management could do so with decency.

"Didn't Have a Chance." "Slattery never had a chance," was the almost universal comment in Boston today, even among those who profess only an academic interest in the situation. "They convicted him as a failure in five weeks work. In fact, they convicted him before he started. He was all but boosted out several days before the opening but the club thought better of it. And the poor ball team they gave him to start with was made worse by illnesses and the fact that the players knew their boss was to go as soon as possible."

Jack Slattery under discussion happens to have a very strong personal following in Boston. He is a home town boy and as Irish as an order of potatoes. O'Brien. A combination like that simply can't miss in the land of the sacred cod.

564 Entries Registered.

INDIANAPOLIS.—One of the great entries ever received for a Grand Circuit meeting is that announced for the Indiana State Fair, Sept. 3-8. A total of 546 horses were named in eight early closing events, an average of slightly better than 70 a race. The biggest entry was made in the 2:10 pace, no less than 101 being listed. The 2:16 trot drew 56, the two-year-old trot, 78; three-year-old trot, 71; 2:10 pace, 65; three-year-old pace, 61; 2:10 trot, 57; and 2:06 pace, 35. The nation's best trotting and pacing stars are entered.

All Outdoors

And Where to go—By James W. Stuber

COLUMBUS, May 28.—Some of the best fishing for small mouth black bass is to be found in Ohio, at Put-in-Bay and on across the line at Pelee Island, Ontario. It is said that the hardest fighting bass to be found anywhere in the Great Lake states are those taken in these waters. The very bass that Dr. J. A. Henshall spoke of as "pound for pound and inch for inch, the gamest fish that swims" live here. It is at Pelee Island that millionaires and statesmen go a-fishing. Grover Cleveland, Robley D. Evans, Gen. Phil Sheridan, William Howard Taft, George M. Pullman, and others have been guests of the Cincinnati

Pelee Club on Pelee Island—and they came to Pelee because of the big fighting small mouth bass. Many Ohio fishermen have the idea that they must go to far away places, to Minnesota, Maine or Northern Canada for small mouth bass, when right close to our own borders there are bass aplenty.

In the summer months bass can be taken in these waters on plugs or spinners, but in the Fall minnows are best. Canada permits no spring fishing here. Her bass are spawning then. She gives them a chance. The season at Pelee and at Put-in-Bay opens July 16th.

Heavies Will Feature Zill's Open Air Show

Jack Gross, Mike Conroy Battle at Idora Tuesday.

YOUNGSTOWN, May 28.—Tomorrow night at Idora park, Youngstown, Promoter Al Zill will send out two of the best of the younger crop of heavyweights in the east, Jack Gross of Philadelphia and Mike Conroy of Rochester in his 12-round feature battle. With the signed contracts of both boys accompanied by certified checks in the hands of the boxing commission, everything is in readiness for the bout, the first open air show of the season.

Joe Trippie, of Rochester, N. Y., meets Young Rudy of Pittsburgh, Pa., in the semi-final bout, and while Rudy needs little or no introduction to local fans, it might be well to glance over the Trippie record.

Freddie Mueller, Archie Walker, Cuddy DeMarco, Paris Caney, Andy Chaney, Phil Logan, Tony Vincent, Tug Phillips, Pete Petrolle, Joe Trabon, and Johnny Sacco are a few of the boys that this fellow has met recently.

Young Billy Wallace will tackle Bobby Belford in the other six rounder, and if Belford is just one half as good as his advance notices claim him to be, it will be a fight worth watching.

George Meenahan, of Farrell will return to the battle grounds with Ed Litz of Warren as his opponent. George is well known to the fans, and about all that needs be said about him, is that he is in tip top shape, and that means a fight, regardless of who or what Litz may be.

Young Guido of Sharon, Pa., and Walter Stewart of Barborton will hook up in the other four spot, and it is hard to figure where Stewart will rate with this Guido fellow, as at the present time, Guido looks like the best bet in this section at his weight.

The first four rounder will go in at 8:15 p. m., promptly, and as this will be the first show at Youngstown's big amusement park, it behooves the fans to get there early and get their seats.

Narrative of Love and Struggle
Against Temptations

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

"Really, father," says she, "and Mrs. Briggs mislead her words and shoved her eyebrows up as far as they would go. 'Really, father, ain't you a bit despot?' Though what she meant by that I dunno."

"Sit down," says he and me fine lady sat, for anyone could see he meant business. "And how long," says he, "is this dodgin' issues to continue?"

"I dunno what you mean," says she, blowin' smoke at him. An' didn't he snatch her cigarette an' chuck it out the window?"

"You've been announced 'engaged,' says he, 'which you've seen fit to deny though not, I notice, to break off. At least not so it's visible to the naked eye. You have also,' he goes on with a terrible look, 'been observed at strange hours and in stranger places with young men of the town under conditions which to say the least may be described as astonishing'."

"What I'm gettin' at," goes on the Mister, 'is are you engaged or are you not? An' if so when may one reasonably expect the happy event to take place?'"

"And at that," Mrs. Briggs declared hoarsely, "if me fine lady didn't throw her napkin to the floor, mind you, and stamp her foot an' say she'd run with who she damned—excuse me, but it was her own word—pleased an' she's marry when she damned well pleased into the bargain! I was that took back 'twas all I could do not to fall through the door where I was standin' quiet like and right amonst 'em!"

"Not in this house you won't," says the Mister, 'by reason of certain little financial arrangements which I happen to control. In other words your credit will be stopped an' your income cut off unless you can see your way clear to actin' like a lady. Or at least like the daughter of a gentleman.'"

"An' to that, Mrs. Day, dear, the bould piece had nothin' to say for well we all know she'd give up her comfort for no man. So after a bit, tryin' to act flip, she tells him to go ahead an' fix it up an' leave her know when the preacher's ready an' she'll be around. An' he says quick-like, 'Very well, we'll announce it for the fifth of next month, an' you'll see, please, that it goes through. In the meantime,' he says, blith' his words till they snapped, 'there'll be no more frivolity with local talent.' Though what he means by that I dunno I'm sure."

"Happy ever after!" chanted Kitten, giving her red mop a shake. "Ho—love among the vicious. Who's her town boy friend, Em?"

"How should I know?" But Emily, too, had seen Avis at odd hours and in unusual places. And her companion, she reflected wonderingly, had been Mary Nolan.

CHAPTER 14.

"A bad lot, such as her, and I hope you'll take warning. Have nothing to do with them. Your poor father knew their kind."

Mrs. Briggs had gone now and Agnes was going over her story; making an object lesson of it for her girls.

"I saw her once with my own eyes flying through Main street in that gaudy car with a cigarette in the side of her mouth. Flaunting her shame in the faces of decent ones."

"Gee, I'd like to've seen the faces of the decent ones," Kitten chuckled. "There was a show I'll bet you."

"That will do, Kathryn. Emmy—" rather wistfully, the old habit of meekness asserting itself through the newer bitterness, "You'd not be taken in by them?"

"There's the boy running with Stella. Rich young fellows mean no good to poor girls. Those you meet at Frances' now, they're not like that?"

Emily had a quick, vivid impression of the blue-eyed Coles, his blondness, his slightly foreign trick of bending from the waist and kissing her hand, the flattering attention he paid her.

He was, she understood vaguely, what her father would have called one of "them swells." At least there was wealth somewhere about him and family. Would Frances Haiden call him an aristocrat?

She thought about it so long that Agnes began "I asked you, Emmy—"

"Of course, darling. I was just thinking. The ones I meet all work. Not in shops like father, but they do different things. They're like Keets Bradley."

Kitten went to the window and made certain signals to Dottie Brent, peeping through the hedge. Silently as a shadow she slipped from the room and Emily saw the two of them going away down the road, moving faster as they got from sight.

"Where do they go so much, Muz? Kitten's never home. Don't you think—?"

"There, now, don't be hard on the child. No harm in their frolicking. Never a word for me, Kitten has—"

That was true enough, Emily thought. Her sister usually managed to get what she wanted with no words at all. But she insisted, "You don't think they've gone out with Flossie is a little wild, Muz. Not a good influence."

"No fear of that, dear. Kitten is an innocent lamb." What use argument? Muz had changed these last years. Things she once had forbidden her elder daughter to do she now looked upon as rather clever in the younger girl. She allowed herself to be coaxed and spoiled and bullied into things she used to frown upon.

Emily would have to take care of Kitten herself, she decided. She would have to assume that burden and carry it alone.

Agnes was looking at her now with little movements about her mouth. Wishing to speak of something which seemed to her important—to make it appear a casual, by-the-way thing. That would be Marty. Emily almost knew how she would begin:

"Marty Nolan's a fine lad, Emmy. There's one works hard; a boy of your own class. Your poor father would like Marty."

Today she ventured a protest despite the almost certain tears it would bring. "But I don't care so much about one of my own class, Muz. And Marty doesn't either; he's climbing out of it as fast as he can. I sort of think that's the way people are, to want something better than they begin with. That's what we're put in the world for, to progress."

"But poor folks can't be having all they'd like, baby. The good Lord put us here to bear the brunt and it's flyin' in the face of Providence to set yourself up against your betters, like."

"They're not my betters, Muz. Nor your, nor Kitten's. Why should they be? Just because they've got money and fine homes and have other people work for them? Does that make them better than us?"

"Why, the only ones better are those who are nobler—sh. Muz—please—"

Infinite pathetic, Agnes putting her hand up—it shook a little and the ropes were very knotted along the back—brushing tears away. So gray, so defeated, beaten down by life.

Emily went to her, arms out, ran her hands along the tired face. "Emmy wouldn't hurt you darling. Well, I only wanted to make you feel we're good as anyone. Don't now—see, I'm going to make a cup of tea."

"She made it very strong after the manner of Agnes herself, and brought it on a tray."

Agnes felt better after the second cup. But she began one of her endless reminiscences. It was all about Steve; the life they had shared. He was a kind man, she said.

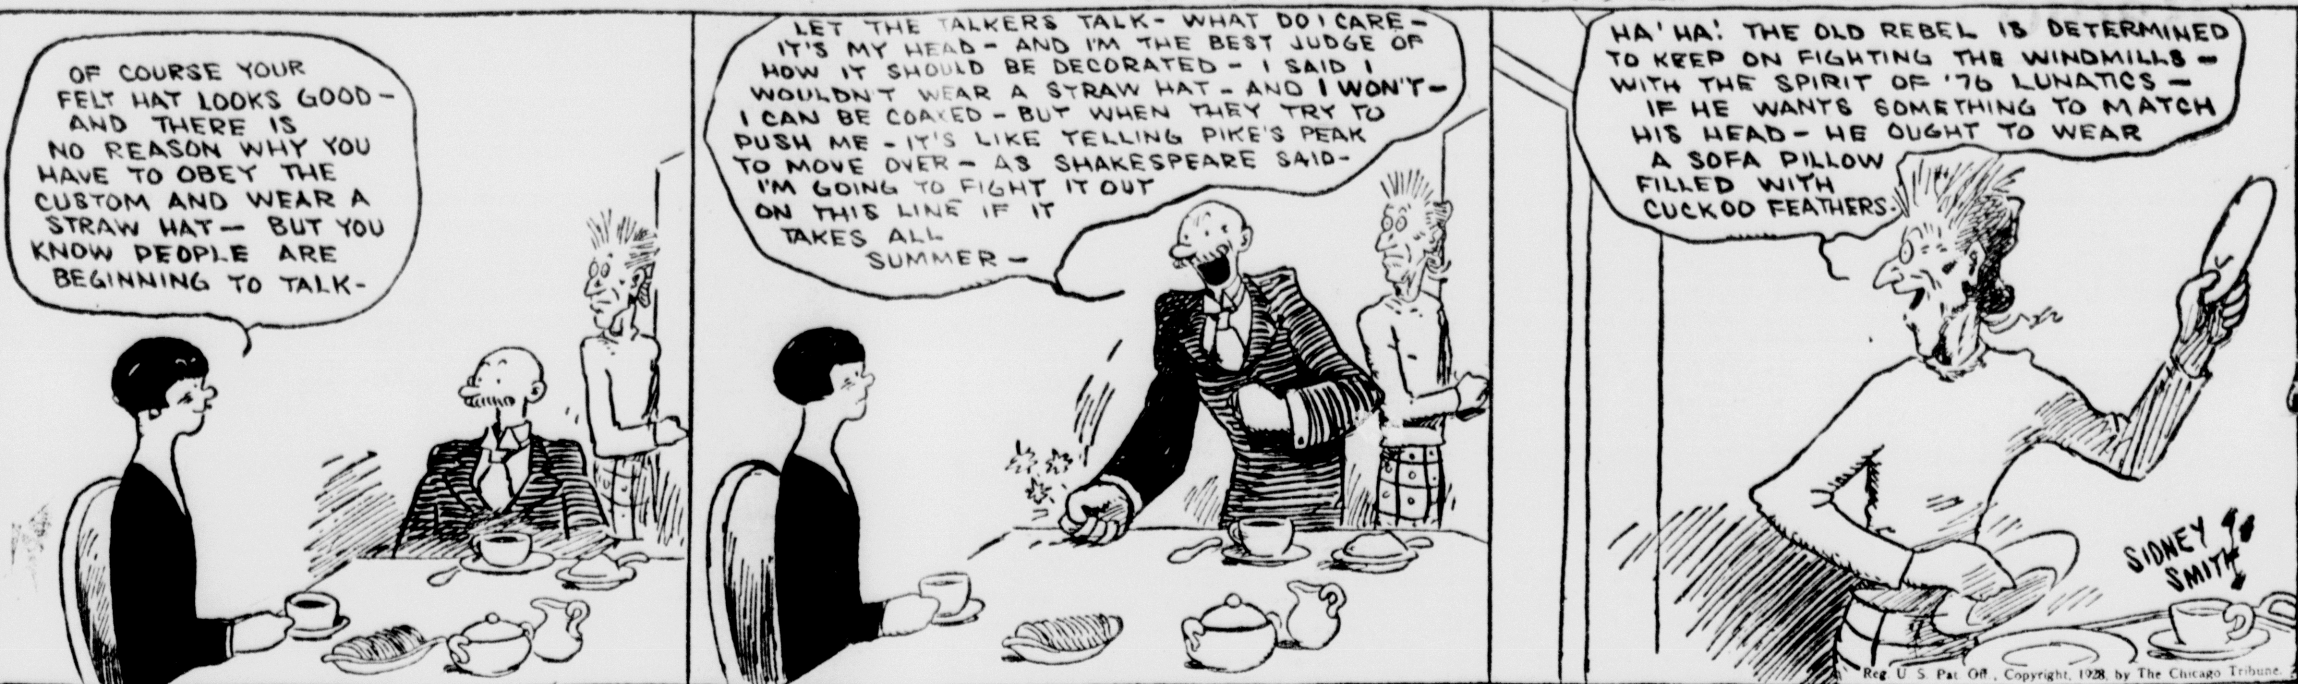

"No kinder ever lived than Steve Day though he was always one for talking a good bit. Ah well, the world goes so; ones die and are buried and others live on."

She saw him now, Emily understood, as a gentle, self-denying husband. Time and forgetfulness were beginning to glorify the years they had lived together. Criticism and shiftlessness, all the hard things, were being softened and glossed over and something, perhaps a beautiful dream of happiness Agnes one had cherished before life snatched it from her, now was being realized in her own thought.

A sad thing that happiness must be only a illusion to this woman who had sacrificed so much, given herself so generously to the needs of others.

Simple good taste is expressed in an interesting model of printed silk crepe, tucked on shoulders with collarless V-neckline and kilted skirt stitched to give snugness through the hips. Geometric crepe, flat silk crepe, cashmere, crepe satin and crepe Elizabeth are excellent fabrics to select for style No. 3419. For active sports, it can be made of men's shirt in pastel shade or closely knit jersey. Pattern in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100. Price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

(In ordering patterns clip the design shown or order by number. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review.

From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns. For 19 cents additional you can obtain our Spring Fashion Magazine.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and am very much in love with a man four years my senior. He seems to love me very much, and we are engaged to be married. His mother does not like me in the least. I have never done anything to cause her to dislike me. She is jealous of her son, and I think that is the reason she does not like me. Do you think we should let this keep us from marrying if we really love each other?

BROWN EYES: Your cue, my dear, is to be sweet and charming as you possibly can be to your fiancée's mother. You will have to win her love, and it will probably be a difficult feat, but I know that if you persevere you will find that she will be enthusiastic over her daughter-in-law. But you will have to be very patient and perhaps, endure many slights.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and am in my fourth year in high school. Some time before Christmas a young man came to me and asked me for a date. I told him I couldn't give him one until we had a personal introduction. He said he'd wait. I've seen him every other day or so since, but I just say hello and smile. I found out his name and other things about him, but I have no one who can or will introduce us. I want him as a friend very much. Can you tell me what to do?

SMILES: It's an unfortunate situation, Siles, but one, I am afraid, that cannot easily be remedied unless you can find a mutual friend to present him to you. I do not approve, at all, of friendships that start without a proper introduction. I am sure, however, that the young man will be able to find somewhere in your town a friend who knows you both. Until that time, however, I would not advise you to go out with him.

MEDINA CONTRACTORS RUSH WORK ON YOUNGSTOWN HIGHWAY LINK

Mellert-Weidner Company Surfaces 1.6 Miles of Williamsport-Rogers Section.

Lisbon, O., May 28.—Between 625 and 725 feet of concrete is being poured daily on the section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown highway between Williamsport and Rogers by the Mellert-Weidner company, of Medina. The stretch to be surfaced is 1.6 miles, and today 1.6 miles had been finished. At the rate of progress, the job should be completed within 40 to 50 days.

The Medina contractors are constructing a pipe line on the Salina-Lisbon road preparatory to pouring concrete which is expected to begin June 3.

The Fleming-Morgan company has completed the superstructure of a new bridge at Rogers on the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, and within a few days the company will remove its equipment to Clermont county, where it has a contract for two other spans.

Charles S. Biery of Alliance has moved a shovel on the Moultrie-Stark county line road in West township, and excavating is now under way. Biery was also started the construction of drainage structures on the North Georgetown-Homeworth road.

All drainage structures, except two on the Rogers-Negley road, being built under the supervision of H. C. Armstrong of Lisbon, have been completed.

Most of the superstructure was poured today.

Herbert Southall Seeks Divorce.

Lisbon, May 28.—Alice Southall, said to be residing at Parkersburg, W. Va., has been charged with gross neglect of duty in a divorce petition filed against her in common pleas court by her husband, Herbert Southall, through his counsel, James E. Davis of East Liverpool. Southall also declares that his wife deserted him two years ago, and has been since absent from his home. The couple were married Nov. 19th, 1923.

32 RURAL ZONE DEATHS IN MAY

Lisbon, May 28.—Two homicide cases and one suicide were included in the death record for the rural sections of Columbiana county as revealed in a monthly report just issued by County Health Commissioner T. T. Church. The suicide occurred at Salinville, while homicide cases were reported in Center and West townships. In all 32 deaths were reported. Birth registrations numbered 34.

A total of 35 communicable diseases have been reported to the county board of health, including 15 cases of scarlet fever and two cases of diphtheria, the latter in Butler and Madison townships. Seven homes in the county were placed under quarantine.

Property Transfers.

Real estate transfers filed for record are as follows:
John McKeeffrey to Nellie M. McKeeffrey, three lots, Leetonia, $1.
Charles C. Metz and others to William A. Steele, 31 acres, section 32, Salem township, $10.
